

The Influence of Mrs. Roosevelt On White House Policy

WASHINGTON—The people of Washington have now seen quite a little of Mrs. Roosevelt and have come to think they know her. How superficial is their acquaintance, how much it was based only upon White House teas was revealed last week at the Conference on the Mobilization for Human Needs.

Two qualities in Mrs. Roosevelt cropped out which most people had not realized.

First she is a decided realist. She does not hesitate to call a spade a spade.

Second, her jaunts around the country have not been merely on pleasure. She has been observing things and a lot of her observations—shared with her husband—have had an important influence on White House policy.

It was, for instance, as a direct result of Mrs. Roosevelt's visit to company towns in West Virginia mining regions that General Johnson banned script payments to miners in the coal code.

On these trips, Mrs. Roosevelt does not talk politics. She talks economics, social conditions, how people live. How great her interest and how great her realism are were illustrated during her speech before the Human Needs Conference, which she concluded as follows:

"Someone recently said to me that I was too sentimental about human want. They claimed that people who never had much, never suffer much.

"When I heard that I could not help thinking of the farm mother I saw a few weeks ago whose child had just died. It had died because it slept on a cold, wet bed. It had to sleep on that kind of a bed because the family had been evicted.

"The mother told me that she had remonstrated with the sheriff that her baby was ill. She said he merely answered: 'I ain't here to nurse your kids.'

"If the owner of that house had been there and had seen that sick child, I am sure he would not have put the family out. But he was somewhere else."

Shirt-Sleeve Diplomacy

Two young college men from North Carolina, seeking government jobs in the Capital, were referred to the NRA. They took up places in the long line of applicants waiting to see Linton Collins, Personnel Officer who does NRA's hiring.

After several days of patient waiting and still a considerable distance from Collins' desk, they decided to resort to strategy. They had noticed NRA employees dashing about in their shirt-sleeves, and everyone thus attired passing in and out of Collins' office without challenge.

Next morning they parked their flivver outside NRA headquarters, divested themselves of their coats and hats, and went to Collins' office. They walked in without interference, told him about their strategy, were promptly hired.

Tax Publicity

The President has a hidden ace up his sleeve in putting pressure on big gold hoarders, profiteers, and other foes of his recovery program.

This is the power to make public income tax returns. Most people have forgotten this, but the last session of Congress voted him such discretionary authority. The Progressives wanted to make publication mandatory, but the Democratic floor leaders balked. The President suggested the compromise, and it was accepted.

With the battle lines tightening (Continued on Page Five)

SCHOOLS STILL WITHOUT HELP, SPONGE READY

Legislature to Conclude Hectic, Unsuccessful Meeting Today

ARGUMENT PREVAIL

Aid for Parochial Schools is Defeated

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The legislature tottered on its last legs today—indicating it will throw in the sponge on the school question and adjourn its special session permanently, possibly by tonight.

An attempt to revive the $4,000,000 parochial school state-aid bill, which was defeated in the house yesterday during a caustic debate, was planned as one of the last gestures by Catholic members, who admitted their chances were slim.

Although sine die adjournment without the levying of new taxes means Ohio's state-aid schools will have to operate many months longer "on faith," not even a quorum could be mustered in the senate for last night's scheduled session.

'AYE' SAYS BOHNERT

Nathan Bohnert, Monroe township representative from Pickaway-co in the general assembly, was one of the 47 Ohio Democrats who voted for the bill for parochial school aid in the state.

Four Republicans also favored the measure while 12 Democrats and 29 Republicans voted against it. Sixty-eight affirmative votes were needed.

MEMBERS ABSENT

Apathy was so great in the house that clerks called the roll for 40 minutes before getting enough members to proceed.

Old religious battles were kindled anew and Ku Klux Klan charges were hurled against one member during debate on the parochial school state-aid bill, which raged for an hour. With 68 votes required for passage, the measure went down to defeat when the roll-call resulted in a vote of 52 for the bill and 41 against.

In the defeat of the bill the parochial schools lost their battle to obtain a $1,500,000 state subsidy for 1933 and a $2,500,000 grant for 1934. Spokesmen said this amount is needed to keep the (Continued on Page Two)

HEAVY RAIN FALLS

A bountiful rain, measuring .85 of an inch, fell late Tuesday and early Wednesday, according to Dr. H. R. Clarke, local weather observer.

Tuesday was the warmest day

A horse, owned by William Koch, a tenant on the Felix Caldwell farm, Jackson-twp., was killed when struck by lightning Tuesday afternoon.

of the past two weeks, the mercury going to 87. Dr. Clarke reported. The average temperature has been from 80 to 82. The low mark last night was 61. The mercury has fallen as low as 54 during nights of the past few weeks.

N. Y. DEMOCRATS SELECTION O'BRIEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—With a plurality running nearly 4 to 1 throughout the city, Mayor John F. O'Brien today had won the Democratic mayoralty nomination over two independent opponents but Tammany Hall's chance of presenting a complete organization slate to the voters in November was shattered by nomination of Frank J. Phaul for comptroller. Phaul, former deputy comptroller and running as an independent Democrat, was leading John N. Harman, Kings-co clerk and designated candidate of Tammany Hall, by some 70,000 votes according to incomplete returns.

U. S. ATTORNEY SUES C. W. HAYS

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—Alleging failure and refusal to pay certain income taxes and penalties for the year 1928, Francis Canay, United States attorney for the southern Ohio district, today started civil action in federal district court here against Charles W. Hays of Williamsport.

The suit asks judgment of $8,891.57 and interest. The action arising under the relating to Internal Revenue laws, is by authorization of the commissioner of Internal Revenue, it was stated in the petition.

VIOLATOR OF NRA AWAITS SENTENCE

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20.—First person to be convicted in New Jersey for violation of an NRA code, Jacob Goldfein, 42, a clothing contractor today awaited sentence.

Judge Ralph Villani found Goldfein guilty of violating the state NRA enforcement act by failing to pay his workers back wages owed under the code.

LABOR WIELDS STRIKE POWER

Effort To Prevent Workers From Entering Unions In Question.

'OBEY LAW,'—GREEN

Cut In Steel Rail Costs Being Urged.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The industrial horizon was scanned by NRA officials today as organized labor served notice it will use the strike as a weapon if necessary to force compliance with the labor terms of the Recovery Act.

With the National Labor board making strong efforts to settle strikes breaking out in many sections of the country, the question of enforcement of the labor provisions confronted Hugh S. Johnson, Recovery administrator.

The National Labor board, headed by Sen. Robert Wagner of New York, is admittedly without power to force acceptance of its dictates. The Recovery administration, however, may invoke the aid of courts through the justice department.

In presenting evidence, which he said, showed that an effort was being made to prevent workers from entering union ranks, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor demanded adherence to the law.

"We have had to strike to compel obedience to the law and we expect we shall have to do so again," he said.

Big corporations, Green said, were rushing to form company unions and employees' associations in anticipation of the organization campaign of labor.

Other developments in the NRA included: Fight continued over the retail code, with indications that a decision by Johnson may be postponed for several days.

Continued On Page Six

WALLACE SEES HIGHER COSTS

Speaks Before Grain Dealers' Association In Chicago On Question.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Higher agricultural prices are due in a few months, perhaps in a few weeks, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace gave his opinion today as he addressed the Grain Dealers' association.

Wallace cautioned price fixers and inflationists to give heed to the long look ahead, and predicted they would have great power next winter in the coming Congress "if the purchasing power of farm products does not improve during the next three months, and there will be passed legislation which will make the Agricultural Adjustment Act seem extraordinarily tame."

The agriculture secretary referred to the present move of American cotton growers and mid-west farmers to have the administration peg prices, and warned against attempts of too rapid economic improvement.

COURT OVERRULES BANKES' VERDICT

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The state supreme court today reversed two Pickaway-co courts which allowed workmen's compensation funds for a worker who was injured while engaging in "horse-play" with a fellow worker.

The court allowed the request of Attorney General John W. Bricker, counsel for the industrial commission, which asked for an order directing the appellate court to certify its record in the case of Clyde Bankes, employe of the Columbus Railway Power and Light Co.

HOOVERS AT FAIR

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Former President Herbert Hoover today carried out a promise made seven months ago to visit the world's Fair.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, the ex-president arrived here from Paso Alto, Cal., to be greeted at the railroad station by a crowd of 2,000 well-wishers.

JUDGE IN BAILEY TRIAL

Judge Edgar S. Vaught is shown in this picture as he presided at opening of the trial of Harvey J. Bailey and eleven other defendants for the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, wealthy oil man. The trial opened Monday in the Federal Building at Oklahoma City, Okla.

PERRY-TWP WOMAN WHO TRIED SUICIDE IS ADJUDGED INSANE

COMMISSIONERS ASK DEPOSITORY BIDS

The Pickaway-co commissioners will receive bids until noon Oct. 16 for county depositories. Bids will be received from any banks or trust companies.

The length of time will be for three years from Oct. 20.

JURY CALLED IN HILL CASE

Special Session of Grand Jury Summoned For Friday By Court.

GIRL IS INVOLVED

Colored Man In Jail Unable To Give Bond.

With a statutory charge concerning a 14-year-old white girl in question, Judge Joseph W. Adkins announced Wednesday that a special session of the September grand jury has been called to report Friday at 9 a. m. to deliberate charges against Burl Hill, Maplewood-ave negro.

Hill is in the county jail unable to give bond after being bound over to the grand jury. He denies the statutory offense which, according to police, has been confessed by the girl.

Three other cases, the nature of which were not disclosed, are also up for investigation. The special session will be conducted by Prosecutor Ray W. Davis.

Court News

RECEIVER RELEASED

The final account of Ray W. Davis, receiver in the case of the Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co. against H. M. Crites et al, has been approved and he has been discharged as receiver.

ACTION RESTRAINED

In the case of W. K. Sheley against C. C. Young, probate judge, and K. P. Hancock, administrator of the estate of the late Clarence Hancock, Judge J. W. Adkins had issued a restraining order against Judge Young to prevent him from approving the final account in the estate and against Hancock from making distribution of assets now in his hands.

AGED MASONIC

MEMBER TAKEN

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—Funeral arrangements were being completed here today for William F. Polley, 76, oldest living past member of Columbus Lodge No. 30, F. & A. M., who died at his home last night.

Polley, who served as an officer of the lodge for 40 years, came to Columbus from Sandusky, O., in 1880.

AUDITOR, DEPUTY AT STATE CONFAB

Clifford M. White and Tom D. Krinn, auditor and deputy auditor, respectively, were in Columbus today attending an auditor's meeting with the Armbruster bill to be discussed.

Miss Belva Ater, 50, Slashed Throat From Ear To Ear On Sept. 11.

HAS DESIRE TO DIE

Wind-pipe Severed in Suicide Effort.

Declared insane after examination Tuesday evening by Dr. G. D. Sheets of Williamsport and Dr. E. S. Shane, this city, Miss Belva Ater, aged 50, of Perry-twp., will be taken to the State hospital at Athens, Thursday afternoon, by Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff.

Miss Ater, a lifelong resident of Pickaway-co, attempted to suicide at her home on Sept. 11 by slashing her throat with a razor. She gashed her throat from ear to ear, severing the wind-pipe. Miraculously she was saved from death.

According to the report filed with Probate Judge C. C. Young, who committed her to the state hospital, Miss Ater, who has never married, is depressed at times and wants to die. She has thrown an oil lamp to the floor and one time tried to burn the home which she shares with her brother, Hoyt in Perry-twp.

Judge Young attended the hearing to test her sanity.

Miss Ater has four other brothers and a sister.

It was advised by the physicians that she be removed to Athens in an ambulance.

CORN CUTTER HURT

Kentuckian Falls on Corn Stubble; Taken To Columbus Hospital.

Charles Traylor, of Kentucky, was seriously hurt when he fell on a corn stubble while cutting corn on the farm of Thomas Wright, Jackson-twp., Tuesday afternoon.

He was removed to St. Francis hospital, Columbus, Tuesday evening by the M. S. Rinehart invalid car.

Traylor came to this vicinity this week with his brother and was given employment by Mr. Wright. He was treated by Dr. G. W. Heffner before being removed to the hospital.

HUGH FAUSNAUGH CLAIMED MONDAY

Funeral services will be held at the Stoutsville Evangelical church at 2 p. m. Thursday, with Rev. Clyde Wendell officiating, for Hugh Fausnaugh, 76, who died at his home in Stoutsville Monday, following a paralytic stroke. He had been ill five months.

A native of Fairfield-co, Mr. Fausnaugh was born Nov. 11, 1856, a son of Jonathan and Catherine Kimbel Fausnaugh. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Drake Fausnaugh, two sons, Carl of Columbus and Clay of Stoutsville, a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor McKinley of Columbus, two brothers, Joseph and Moses and a sister, Mrs. Lavina Ashbaugh of the Stoutsville vicinity.

GYPSIES SOUGHT

Sheriff Charles Radcliff scoured the southeastern part of the county Wednesday morning searching for a band of gypsies which allegedly "fleece" a farmer in the vicinity of Stoutsville out of $25. Fairfield-co officers were also searching for the thieves.

OHIO COURT UPHOLDS 48-CENT GAS FOR COLUMBUS; COUNCIL MAY ACT

Application for Re-hearing Denied Columbus Gas & Fuel Co.

TWO OFFERS HERE

Adkins' Ordinance, Company Offer Studied

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The Ohio Supreme court today denied the application of the Columbus Gas & Fuel Co., for a rehearing in the Columbus gas rate case.

The decision of the court to deny the application of the gas company for a rehearing upholds the 48-cent gas rate, previously approved by the court. The gas company had sought to restore a 55-cent rate.

Following announcement of the court's ruling this morning, attorneys for the gas company declared they would carry the case to the United States Supreme court.

Issuance of a mandate, ordering restoration of the 48-cent rate, will be made by the state court.

CONTRARY TO UTILITIES

Charging the 48-cent rate to be confiscatory, the gas company recently started collection of the 55-cent rate despite the court's former order. The gas company based its action on a ruling by the utilities commission last fall which established the 55-cent figure.

Today's decision by the state court marked the second time the court has disapproved the utilities commission finding in the Columbus case. In the original order, the court flatly overruled the commission's 55-cent rate.

City council meets this evening but whether or not it will take any action on one of two gas propositions now before it is uncertain.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., several weeks ago, offered a five-year contract upon which council has not yet taken formal action.

An ordinance presented by Paul E. Adkins, city solicitor, last November, has been read twice and will be subject to a vote after a third reading. The ordinance was given its second reading quite a while ago.

RATES ARE DIFFERENT

Adkins' ordinance calls for a 43-cent net rate while that of the gas company offers a lower rate than the 63 cents now paid for the first four years of the contract but a higher rate for the fifth year.

The local gas company is now operating under a franchise which has been extinct for over two years.

What other questions might be brought up at the council meeting are not known.

Perry-Co Party Leader Is Dead

J. E. Powell, This District's Presidential Elector 4 Years Ago, Crash Victim.

NEW LEXINGTON, Sept. 20.—J. E. Powell, 63, prominent local attorney and Democratic leader, died Tuesday night in Grant hospital, Columbus, of injuries he suffered last Saturday at New Lexington when his automobile collided with one owned by Judge T. D. Price of the Perry-co common pleas court.

Mr. Powell was a former Perry-co prosecutor, an Al Smith presidential elector four years ago and an official of the New Lexington Savings and Loan Co.

Mr. Powell was well known here in Democratic circles. He was quite active in the party.

DAVIS TO SPEAK AT ROTARY CLUB

Ray W. Davis, prosecuting attorney, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Rotary Club Thursday.

NEGRO IS SOUGHT

A negro reported to resemble the man who wounded James Towne, railroad detective, was reported seen riding on a Norfolk & Western, westbound train, at Clinton-st today.

Sheriff's deputies and police were searching for him.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Mrs. Clarence Valentine and baby boy of Circleville R. F. D. 3, and Mrs. Reva Bowdle, New Holland, were discharged from the hospital Wednesday.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Steele, Ringgold-pk, announce the birth of a daughter at Berger hospital, Tuesday afternoon.

Myers' Appeal Denied

Court Rules That Secretary of State Can't Force Referendum.

WRIT IS PREPARED

All Judges Concur in Final Decision.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The Ohio Supreme court today ruled in effect that Secretary of State George Myers can not force a referendum on the McNamee laws, creating a state highway patrol and providing for the transfer of the bureau of motor vehicles from the offices of the secretary of state to the state highway department.

The ruling of the court was handed down in the case of Paul J. Patton of Cincinnati, who sought to prohibit the secretary of state from placing the McNamee laws on the ballot for the November 7 election. The ruling sustained a previous action by the court in establishing a temporary restraining order against Myers.

WRIT PLANNED

A permanent writ, preventing the secretary of state from placing the laws on the ballot for the November election will be issued by the court as a result of the ruling today.

"The court adheres to its form—Continued On Page Two

AUTO MEN TO MEET TONIGHT

Proposed Code To Be Presented By Various Businesses For Study.

HARDEN IN CHARGE

Meeting Begins at 7:30 In C. of C. Rooms.

Auto dealers, service repairmen and filling station operators will meet in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday to hear a report on a proposed local automotive code which was drawn up during the past week by a committee of nine, appointed at last Wednesday's meeting.

This committee is composed of Ralph Leach, Elmer Clifton and B. F. Harden, new car dealers; Ernest May, Russell Miller and James Butts, independent garagemen; and George L. Crites, Bishop Given and Walter Nelson, filling station proprietors.

An organization, known as the Pickaway-co Automotive Trade Association, was completed at last Wednesday's meeting. B. F. Harden, president of the group, will be in charge of tonight's meeting.

EILERS, GIBSON DIVORCE LEARNED

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20.—Sally Eilers, beautiful film star, divorced "Hoot" Gibson, cowboy film actor, in Chihuahua, Mexico, August 28, she announced today.

"Neither Hoot nor I wanted any more publicity," Miss Eilers said. "We figured if we obtained a divorce in Los Angeles there would be more talk, which neither of us wanted at this time."

Miss Eilers said that she and Gibson had guarded carefully plans for the Mexican divorce suit, in which she charged incompatibility.

The film pair married at Gibson's famous ranch at San Juan, Cal., June 29, 1930.

OHIO RED CROSS TO MEET SEPT. 27

Regional Conference to Plan Roll Call Planned; Everett Dix to Be in Charge

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20.—Welcomed by Mayor Russell Wilson, Red Cross chapter representatives from all parts of Ohio will gather in Cincinnati Sept. 27 to plan for the fall roll call and to (Continued on Page Two)

DRY LAW ENDS IS NEARER; 31 ARE NOW WET

Idaho and New Mexico Vote Death Knell of 18th Amendment

MANY VOTE NOV. 7

Numerous States to Be Without Statutes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The 18th amendment drew appreciably nearer the graveyard today as Idaho and New Mexico, long dry, joined the procession of repeal states.

Thirty-one have now registered opposition to constitutional prohibition, some by overwhelming votes. Only five more have to act

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—

"Stay-at-home" dry votes are responsible for the fact that 31 states have lined up in the prohibition repeal column. It was charged today by speakers at the Franklin-co convention of the W. C. T. U., here. An appeal was made to rally out every dry voter to the polls next November 7 to save Ohio from "the disgrace of a wet verdict."

to reach the necessary goal of 36 of the 48 states. Repeal will be an accomplished fact by Dec. 6.

Recapitulation of the situation along the prohibition front shows these states have approved repeal by approximately these votes:

Michigan, 2 1-2 to 1; Wisconsin, 4 to 1; Rhode Island, 7 to 1; Wyoming, (incomplete); New Jersey, 6 to 1; Delaware, 3 to 1; Indiana, 2 to 1; Massachusetts, 4 to 1; New York, 6 to 1; Illinois, 4 to 1; Iowa, 1 1-2 to 1; Connecticut, 7 to 1; New Hampshire, 2 1-2 to 1; California, 3 to 1; West Virginia, 1 1-2 to 1; Tennessee, by 7,000 majority; Missouri, 3 to 1; Nevada, (incomplete); Arizona, 3 to 1; Texas, Washington, Vermont, Maine, Colorado, Maryland, Minnesota, Idaho and New Mexico, for which final figures are unavailable, but all voting overwhelmingly for repeal.

VOTE ON NOV. 7

The remaining five states must be made up from the following (Continued on Page Two)

SCOUTS TO HAVE COURT OF HONOR

Number of Awards To Be Made Thursday Evening At Memorial Hall.

A number of Boy Scout awards will be made Thursday evening when a Court of Honor under the supervision of George McDowell is held in Memorial Hall. The court begins at 8 p. m.

Music will open the program with presentations to be made as follows: Second class scouts, Meeker Terwilliger; First class scouts, Emmitt L. Crist; Merit badges, Durward Dowden; Higher awards, Tom A. Renick; senior patrol leaders and scoutmasters, Ferd M. Pickens.

The district flag will be awarded to a troop not yet designated by T. O. Gilliland with E. L. Daley, superintendent of schools, to make a short talk at the conclusion of the awards.

PROGRAM FOR OHIO HISTORY DAY WILL START AT 1 P. M.

Annual Ohio History Day exercises at Logan Elm park on Sunday, Oct. 1, will begin at 1 p. m. Mrs. Howard Jones, president of the association, announced Wednesday.

John F. Carlisle, vice president of the organization, will be master of ceremonies and John W. Bricker, attorney general of Ohio, will deliver the address.

An informal reception will be held following the exercises at the park at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Jones. There will be no formal invitations issued all being welcomed to meet Mr. Bricker.

VIEREBOOME NAMED Arthur B. Viereboome, of Lancaster, well known here, has been elected a trustee of White Cross hospital, Columbus.

JUDD HERO AS RED BIRDS ANNEX TITLE

Right Hander Halts Minneapolis Rally Then Delivers Home Run With Two Mates on Base in Tenth Inning; Score 14-11 in Game Requiring Nearly Three Hours; Many Home Runs Feature Sixth Series Game.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—Chucky Judd was the unofficial owner of this city today. Coming to bat in the first half of the tenth inning with two men perched on the bases, Judd smacked one of Pitcher Harry Holsclaw's pitches into Nicolet-ave. to win the ball game.

He blanked the Minneapolis Millers in their half of the tenth and the Red Birds were champions of the American Association. They had won the regular season's schedule by a margin of 15 1-2 games but under a new rule were forced to play the winner of the western half of the league which was Minneapolis. Columbus won the first game of the series, lost the second, won the third and lost the fourth. The team then won the fifth and sixth and will now meet the International league champion, either Rochester or Buffalo, for the Little World Series title.

The score of the Tuesday's game was 14-11.

Judd's four-base clout was not the only great feat he turned in. Relieving Lefty Heise after the young southpaw had fanned Hauser and intentionally walked Spencer Harris to fill the bases and make a play at every base with Holland at bat, Judd forced Holland to ground to Riggs whose throw to the plate forced Cohen. Ganzel then grounded to Whitehead and was out at first. This all happened in the last half of the ninth.

PUT ON BRAKES

Things looked very dark for the Birds in this frame when Cohen singled and Ruble walked with Paul Dean on the mound. Hauser swung three times and missed. Then came Harris. He was walked and Judd entered the picture. The count was three balls and one strike on Holland and it looked like a base on balls might end the ball game, but chunky Ralph tossed the agate over the rubber just often enough.

Again home runs played a big part in the ball game. Cullop hit a pair, Delancy smacked one. Heath connected and so did Riggs. The latter home run meant everything to the Red Bird cause. Holsclaw was on the hill with two men out and no one on base in the Red Bird half of the ninth. Minneapolis was leading by one run by virtue of home runs off the bats of Hauser and Harris. The count was three balls and no strikes on Riggs with Cullop waiting to come up if Riggs should be walked. With this thought apparently in mind, Holsclaw tried to slip a strike through the Red Bird third sacker and over the right field fence it soared.

The Birds then went on to win as a result of Judd's enacting the hero role.

With a high wind sweeping the ball field, Benny Borgman, Bird short fielder, had a tough time and committed three errors. One of the errors was on a pop fly, a second occurred when Hauser sliding into second base kicked Borgman's feet from under him thus a wild home to first base and the third came on a slow roller in the infield. The Red Birds obtained 18 hits and Minneapolis had 14. The winners used Winford, Dean, Heise and Judd on the mound and the losers had Murray, Hilcher, Tauscher, Petty and Holsclaw. Hi Vandenberg was the only eligible man Manager Bancroft did not send to the mound and he saw bullpen duty. Kingdon was the only eligible player besides Vandenberg who did not see service. Griffin, catcher and assistant manager, fanning for the last out of the game.

A royal welcome is planned this evening when the Birds arrive at the Union depot, Columbus, at 6:20 p. m.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

THOSE individuals who are always ready to cry about something "being fixed," especially in reference to athletic events, can be scoffed at—and plenty—as a result of the Columbus-Minneapolis series. Any person who witnessed a single game of the series would bet his last penny that nothing of a crooked nature was exhibited at any time in the series.

One of the first real examples of the "competition in the series" was seen in the first night game in Columbus when the Birds won by one run on Ray Blader's blow to center field. A second incident was in the extra inning game the Birds won Monday when Delancy hit a home run for Paul Dean to win the fray. The third example was easily seen in the final game of the series when the Millers went ahead then behind and then ahead again only to lose out in the end.

Those so-called fans who cry "Fixed, fixed, fixed" everytime a ball club plays another with anything at stake are mighty good subjects for the "booby-hatch."

With the baseball season entering its final phases, the worst season in its history is behind the mighty Babe Ruth, sultan of war. The New York Yankee star, who has been on the bench with various afflictions during the year now has an injured knee.

He is hopeful of pitching a game against the Boston Red Sox in a few days. It was in that city that he made his start toward world-reknown.

Bowling News

Asa Elsea's Transfer five defeated the Herdman-Leasures in three straight games in the city duck-pin league, Tuesday evening. Sterling Lamb and Capt. Elsea led the bowlers.

The scores:
Elsea 150 110 108-368
Noble 97 103 140-340
Lamb 102 158 119-379
Renick 80 109 110-299
Deming 97 122 118-337

Total 546 602 595

HERDMAN-LEASURES—1539
Baker 104 114 83-301
White 88 118 121-327
Warner 91 110 103-304
S. Leasure 83 97 112-294
L. Leasure 96 91 116-303

Total 472 532 535

The City Five downed Chillicothe in an interesting ten-pin match here Tuesday evening by a margin of 118 pins. The local led throughout with Bill Packard's 565 leading the parade.

Score were:
CITY FIVE—2431

Riggs 176 159 162-497
Sensen 137 158 148-443
Lynch 137 150 145-432
Moyer 169 166 159-494
Packard 160 206 198-558

Total 779 839 812

CHILLICOTHE—2313
Blakeman 165 141 183-489
Hamilton 148 148 186-482
Ewart 149 132 118-399
Wolcott 159 180 146-485
Bowers 129 160 169-449

Total 750 761 802

The Long Look Ahead

A Johns Hopkins scientist says there is no means of telling just which way evolution is going to proceed in the future, but that the most probable development will be a race of supermen with feelings and ideas totally different from those possessed today.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making bile flow. Bucken's task for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 20c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Champion Hubby Welcomed

George T. Dunlap, of New York, newly-crowned national amateur golf champion, is greeted by his wife on his return home from Cincinnati, O., the scene of his triumph. In insert, Dunlap is pictured with the magnificent trophy emblematic of his title.

Spartans Work to Halt Newman

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 20.—The Portsmouth Spartans were back on the practice field today in preparation for their encounter with the New York Giants next Sunday, at Universal Stadium. Following their victory over the Cincinnati Reds Sunday by a score of 21-0, Coach Clark gave his squad a rest on Monday from practice but took them on the golf course for an eighteen hole workout.

The entire squad came through last Sunday's game in good shape with the exception of Christensen, the big tackle from Oregon U who had a slightly sprained back. He is under treatment by Doc Neff, Spartan trainer, and will undoubtedly be able to fill the right tackle position for the Giant encounter. Coach Clark is grooming Bowdoin from Alabama for this position should Christensen fail to be in shape to play.

CADDELL STARS
As expected, the veterans all performed like they knew what it was all about. Several of the new recruits however showed up even better than expected. Caddell of Stanford playing at right half demonstrated that he shows up under fire even better than he does on the practice field. Schaack of Kansas was another who showed up well.

The Spartan squad is now down to twenty-two men. Eugene Boswell, tackle of Purdue, having been released to the Cincinnati Reds.

The Spartan owners are carrying no negotiations with Larry Bettencourt, All-American center of St. Mary's, to bolster up the center of their line which was the only position which showed a slight weakness. An announcement whether Bettencourt will report or not will be forthcoming shortly. The New York Giants will arrive in Portsmouth Friday at full strength. The Giants will take the field under the able leadership of Harry Newman, all American quarterback from Michigan. Newman was the outstanding player in the Century of Progress game played at Soldier's Field on August 24 when he was able to slip through the West line for remarkable gains. If the Spartan defense can stop Newman it will be a long stride toward the pennant.

Daily Drama

By International News Service.
The hero—Jimmy Fox, Athletics. Cracked homer No. 46 to give the A's a 5 to 2 success over Detroit's Tigers.

The goat—Hal Smith, Pirates. Weakened in eighth, giving the Phillies four hits, which won 3 to 2, the defeat ending Pittsburgh's bid for the 1933 National league and sending in the Giants as champions.

Red Wings Lead

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Buffalo and Rochester battle tonight in the fourth game of the international baseball league play-off series for the right to meet Columbus, American Association champions, in the little world's series.

Rochester has won two of the three games played, the Red Wings defeating the Bisons in Rochester yesterday, 6 to 3, with home runs by Estel Crabtree and Ray Pepper and some fine relief hurrying by Jim Lindsey.

ESPINOSA WINS OHIO OPEN CROWN

AKRON, Sept. 20.—Al Espinosa, Akron pro, today had retained his kingship over the professional and amateur golfers of the state by finishing five strokes ahead of the field in the Ohio Open golf tournament at the Portage Country club here, Espinosa's home links.

His final score of 277, composed of rounds of 66-70-71-70, was seven strokes under par for the course, and his last 70 was a triumph over the elements as a steady rain fell throughout the last nine holes of play.

Espinosa, the defending champion, had 16 birdies in the 72 holes, 48 pars, seven holes one over par and once took two extra strokes to reach the green. The feature of his play was his brilliant iron shots and putting. His driving appeared wobbly and he often was in the rough but he always recovered by his iron or putter play.

DRY LAW END

Continued From Page One

eight which vote up to and including Nov. 7:

Virginia, Oct. 3; Florida, Oct. 10; Kentucky, South Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Utah and North Carolina, all on Nov. 7. The convention dates for these states range from Virginia on Oct. 25 to North Carolina on Dec. 6.

In Louisiana and Kansas there are prospects of special sessions of the legislature before the year is out.

States where there is not much prospect of any action this year are: Montana, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Nebraska, Mississippi, Georgia, and North Dakota.

Repeal has moved so rapidly that it is likely the effective date for the death of the 18th amendment will catch a good many states unprepared for what is to follow.

To date only nine states have completed liquor control laws and regulations which go into effect immediately upon the expiration of the amendment. These are: Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Montana, New York, Nevada, and Rhode Island.

MYERS'

Continued From Page One
er judgment" it said in a formal opinion disposing of the Myers referendum fight. All judges but Howard L. Bevis, former finance director who did not participate, concurred in the opinion.

Myers' proposed referendum shall not be held, the opinion said, because "Under Article two, section 1c of the Ohio constitution a single referendum may not be filed attacking two or more separate and distinct laws passed by the general assembly."

Myers' proposed to hold a single referendum on both laws.

The decision was made final by ruling on minor points in the controversy. The court overruled the request of petitioners who asked to be made parties defendant to the suit, and upheld Patton's demurrer to an answer filed by the secretary of state. On all points the court re-affirmed its previous stand.

OHIO RED CROSS

Continued From Page One

consider service programs for next year.

Everett Dix, assistant manager of the Eastern area, is coming from national headquarters to present to the conference an outline of Red Cross financial needs in community and Nation. An inspirational address will be delivered by H. J. Hughes, legal adviser of the National organization. Another speaker from Washington will be Miss Mary Concanon, assistant to the director of the Junior Red Cross.

Among those who will participate prominently are John A. Poland, chairman, Ross-cc chapter; Charles C. Dhanau, chairman of the home service committee, Cincinnati and Hamilton-cc chapter; Ralph F. Rogan, chairman of the host chapter; the Reverend James Thomas, pastor, Hyde Park Community Church, Cincinnati; Hugh L. Nichols, chairman, Clermont-cc chapter; Mrs. Ells Layne Brown, executive director, host chapter, and Asbury Cecil, Red Cross liaison representative, United States Veterans Bureau.

September 25 has been set as the deadline for farmers to sign wheat reduction applications.

SCHOOLS STILL

Continued From Page One

schools open.

Revival of their fight was planned through the offering of an amendment to the Gunsett "school foundation" bill, which was on today's house calendar. The amendment, being similar to the bill, was in danger of being ruled out of order.

Charge that "the grand league of the Ku Klux Klan" conferred at the statehouse with Rep. R. A. Pollock (R) of Canton, leader of opposition to the bill, were made during the debate by Rep. Hugh Addison (D), of Columbus.

POLLOCK IS CENTER

Denying this, Pollock declared he "is not, never has been and never expects to be a member of the Klan."

The Democratic leadership threw its support behind the bill, with floor leader Keith Lawrence, of Cleveland, promising that Governor George White would sign the measure, providing it were passed. Opponents cited various attorney general's opinions, holding state aid to private schools to be unconstitutional, as their reason for refusing to approve the bill.

A proposed "dictatorship" over small high schools for the department of education was to come under fire in consideration of the Gunsett bill today. House members said they would demand an amendment refusing to allow the state director of education to close down high schools of 90 pupils or under, as provided by the bill.

Although promising to set up a standard of $33 per year for elementary pupils and $66 for high school pupils, the Gunsett measure was expected to be rendered ineffective for some time, if passed, due to failure to provide new tax funds.

Governor White has threatened to veto the bill if it bears an amendment giving $3,000,000 for the rest of the year to state-aid schools. Accordingly, this was expected to be eliminated.

Democratic Floor Leader Paul Yoder of Dayton Republican Floor Leader Earl Lewis of St. Clairsville and Senator Daniel J. Gunsett (D) of Van Wert, chairman of the special taxation committee, were among the 18 absentees in the senate last night. Other members seemed to be falling in line with the desire to adjourn.

The PRESIDENT Is Taking Your Order for PROSPERITY...

HE will deliver the goods if you will respond to the fine example of salesmanship that he has exhibited and the service that he is ready to render to all America.

He asks for cooperation. He asks for the spirit of "give and take." He offers a plan under which men can earn more, employ more and pay more to increase consumer buying power.

Normal buying power in America always has meant good business, contented homes and living conditions on a higher plane than any other nation in the world.

Operating under the NRA we have added three men to our payroll. We are glad to have this opportunity to cooperate with the President to bring back prosperity. When you buy bread from your grocer you can cooperate with us and our employees by asking for Wallace's Bread. When you do this we will be able to continue to "DO OUR PART" in the program set down by the President.

ED. WALLACE BAKERY
127 W. Main St.

MODERN NURSERY RIMES

There was an old woman who lived in a shoe,
She had so many children she didn't know what to do;
'Til she advertised the want-ad way,
And got a maid without delay.

Phone 782.

THE HERALD
Pickaway County's Daily Newspaper.

In Miami Beach its

The Fleetwood

Opening for the Winter Season
January first. European Plan.

An Exclusive Winter Resort Hotel, on Biscayne Bay, with Ocean Bathing, a Private Dock and every facility for the comfort and entertainment of its exclusive and discriminating clientele.

Rates Double from $8.00 to $20.00 per day.
A la carte service and Fixed Price Meals.

Other DeWitt Operated Hotels include:

In Cleveland Its
THE HOLLENDEN
In Chicago Its
THE LASALLE
In Columbus Its
THE NEIL HOUSE
In Akron Its
THE MAYFLOWER

FENWAY HALL,
Cleveland's High Class
Residential Hotel, is also under
DeWitt Management.

THOMAS CAGWIN
Resident Manager

NATIVE HERE TELLS OF TROPICAL VISIT

BY ETHEL JANE STEELE

Leaving Havana, Cuba, on August 15, I traveled by automobile to Batabano, where I boarded a boat for the Isle of Pines, across the Caribbean Sea. After having spent weeks in the midst of howling mobs, it seemed like a haven of rest.

On this island I found beautiful hills covered with royal palms with grassy houses nestled among them, which makes it from the standpoint of scenic beauty one of the most picturesque places I have ever seen. It is hard to believe that within 400 miles of America one could find a place where the superstitions of the dark ages still exist, and where people board up their houses at night to keep out the witches, yet, these conditions exist on this island.

We have heard much in America about "nudist colonies" being formed, but when I reached the Isle of Pines, I had my first shock from seeing people who were real nudist and thought nothing whatever about it. On Sunday morning I went out in the country to Sunday school, where none of the children under 12 or 13 wore any clothing, and the grown ups wore very little, but they seemed to take it all for granted and to be so entirely natural that you soon got over the shock and accepted it as another strange custom.

MAHOGANY USED

One of the unique things one sees on this island is all the houses, however small a shack it may be, are trimmed with solid mahogany, which is just as cheap as pine in America.

Most of the industry on this island is owned by American capital, and there is quite a large colony of Americans there. They have American teachers in some of the schools and English is fast becoming the national language. The Isle of Pines resented belonging to Cuba and also resented any interference on the part of the Cuban government, and many of them claim to be a part of the United States. Through all the turmoil and strife in Cuba, this island was very quiet and conditions were practically normal there.

After spending only two days on this trip I received word to come back to Havana, as one of my clients there was in some serious trouble. Through the courtesy of some friends I made the return trip by airplane.

When I arrived in Havana the storm warnings were up and I decided that just as soon as I could arrange with another attorney to take over the work I would return to the States.

STORM TERRIFIC

When the storm struck Cuba it seemed that the forces of Heaven and earth vied for first place in wreaking death and destruction to the Island Republic. The winds and rain washed clean the streets of human blood caused by the forces of man, the avenging mobs who sought to meet out justice according to their own ideas after the overthrow of the Machado government, but left in its place scores of dead bodies and a 100,000 homeless people. It is strange how people turn to the Bible in times of distress. If I heard this favorite Biblical quotation once I heard it a thousand times by both those who were religiously inclined and those who were not, "Vengeance is mine, I will repay." Whether God had anything to do with the storm or not, it can only be hoped that both the forces of nature and man will cease their battle of death and destruction.

The whole situation in Cuba can be summed up in a few words. It is hard to reason with people who are facing stark starvation as these people are. One look in the faces of some of the people you meet on the streets of any city in Cuba will convince you that only two things will settle the situation there. "One is bread and the other bullets."

FLED ELEMENTS

I had hoped that after all the horrible experiences, I had endured in Cuba that I would have a few days of peace and quiet when I reached the States, but fate had decreed different as I reached scarcely a fortnight before the storm warnings were posted here.

We left Tampa last Friday for a little yachting trip to get away from the crowds over Labor Day, but received the warning and came ashore, near Sarasota on the west coast. While this is one of the worst storms Florida has had since the disasters of 1928, yet the warnings were received in time that all the people sought refuge in storm proof buildings and there was no loss of lives here, although a large dam broke at Sulphur Springs just five miles north of Tampa and the whole town is still submerged in from five to 15 feet of water. An 80 mile gale which struck this section of the state late Monday caused much damage to the citrus

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

YOU know Idaho potatoes. I reckon Jim Holl invented Idaho potatoes, but I ain't so sure but what it was a Higher Power even than Jim that done it.

Well, Idaho potatoes are big, besides being good to eat. I heard about a farmer from Connecticut that went out to Idaho to live. He went there because he was told by the real estate man all about the big potatoes and the chances there is in Idaho for a farmer.

This Connecticut man came to his real estate agent with a long face at the end of the first year.

"I wisht you'd sell my farm for me," he says.

"Sure, But I'm surprised. Wasn't crops good this year?"

"Yes, I reckon the crops was all right."

"Didn't you have potatoes twice as big as any you ever seen before?"

"Yes, But I come out here to farm."

"Well, what about it?"

"Where in thunder do you reckon I'm going to get the little potatoes to feed to the pigs? Import 'em?"

American News Features, Inc.

crops as well and the early vegetables, and it does not look at this time like the NRA will have to intervene here to control the production of crops.

I am hoping that I may be able to make a trip home within the next few days, after which I will go to Nassau and the Bahamas, about October 15.

Epidemic Among Animals

Epizootics are diseases affecting animals on a scale comparable to that of epidemics among humans. Even in the wild such maladies exist, it has been proved, in spite of contrary opinions held by many veteran woodsmen.

Trio in Mystery Slaying

Rev. J. F. Eddy, 50-year-old pastor of the Church of God, at Grace Fork, near Ripley, W. Va., and his wife, whose battered and bullet-riddled bodies provided a mystery for police to solve. In insert is Ralph Eddy, 15-year-old son of the pastor by his first wife, who is sought in hopes he may be able to throw some light upon the mystery.

TALE WAS TOO OLD

DENVER—"Four fellows in an automobile held me up on the corner, beat me, and took $100 away from me," Alex Langren explained in police court. "I wanted to call the police, but I smashed the fire alarm glass, instead." Magistrate A. H. Pickens complimented Langren on the originality of his story and fined him $15 for turning in a false alarm.

Help Yourself to Savings with WANT ADS

NO MONEY Is No Excuse!

SUPPOSE dollars are scarce. Is that a valid reason for letting human beings die from tuberculosis when they might otherwise have been cured? Is that cause enough to permit thousands of people to be exposed to the dreaded germs from sufferers who should be segregated and undergoing proper care and treatment?

The fearful White Plague does not wait for empty exchequers to be replenished. Tuberculosis takes no holiday.

Funds seem always available for fighting disease in hogs, sheep and cattle. Money turns up to further

"Get Well in Ohio"

The NRA should reduce the house wife's working hours to not more than 80 hours a week.

IS EPILEPSY INHERITED?

New York, N. Y. A booklet entitled "CAN EPILEPSY BE CURED?" issued recently, contains the opinions of doctors from Europe, Asia, and America on this interesting subject.

Because of the world wide interest created by this pamphlet, a limited number will be distributed free. Write to the Educational Division, 545 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y., Dept. 139 for this free interesting booklet.

hundreds of pet enterprises. The way must be found to prevent the spread of tuberculosis. No job is bigger, no cause is worthier.

NOTHING should be permitted to stop the fight against tuberculosis. Every locality should make adequate provision for the care of needy tuberculous patients for the safety and protection of all. Write for free copy of "Blacking Out the White Plague."

Published in the interest of tuberculosis treatment by the Rocky Glen Sanatorium, McConnelville, Ohio, the oldest private tuberculosis sanatorium in Ohio.

YOUR DOCTOR KNOWS

TUBERCULOSIS PREVENTION

Saves MORE THAN IT COSTS!

DON'T FORGET TO PHONE THAT WANT-AD

YOU'll want an ad in the Herald Classified Section. Better phone it NOW while you're thinking about it.

PHONE 782

A Value Scoop!

50—that's all!

NEW FALL COATS

$24⁷⁵

Get into step with the new movement back to prosperity! Here are coats to make you feel queenly—luxurious—prosperous! Ready for you in this great Penney event!

See them—Tomorrow Friday Saturday!

Better Act Quickly!

Wise women will "jump at the chance" to wear a coat of fine quality—when the price is so very exceptionally low! All the latest styles are here—colors—fabrics—furs! Don't miss this special opportunity!

Gorgeous furs! Smartest fabrics! Exquisite styling and finish! Wide selection!

C. PENNEY CO. Inc.

J.C. PENNEY CO. INC.
DEPARTMENT STORE
Challenging the PRICE RISE!
Ready—
SMART FALL DRESSES

$6⁹⁰

Satins
Crepes
Sheers

Ribbed and Smooth

Action—is the Word!

This Express Shipment Just Arrived!

GOES ON SALE Thursday 9 a.m.

Only 100

—and they won't last long!

COME EARLY! CHOOSE YOURS FIRST!

Penney's fashion buyers have exceeded their best records in this grand scoop. It took rare skill, too, in times like these—and they frankly doubt their ability to repeat! That's the story—and NOW it's up to YOU!

Smart Dark Fall Colors
Wide Shoulders — Unusual Sleeves
High Neck Lines — Graceful Skirts

J. C. PENNEY CO. Inc.

The Circleville Herald

Consolidation of The Circleville Herald, established in 1883, and the Daily Union-Herald, established in 1894.

Published evenings, except Sunday, by THE CIRCLEVILLE PUBLISHING COMPANY.

Karl J. Herrmann, Manager.

A DEMOCRATIC NEWSPAPER

MEMBER
Ohio Newspaper Association
International News Service
King Feature Syndicate
Ohio Select List
NATIONAL ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES
JOHN W. CULLEN CO.
No. 8 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.
501 Fifth Ave., New York City
General Motors Building, Detroit
Michigan

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
By Mail One Year, 4; six months, $2.50; three months, $1.25; one month, 50c. Delivered by carrier—Per Week, 15c; 1/2 Per Year in Advance.

Entered at Postoffice at Circleville as Second Class Matter.

End the Mystery

MANY unexplained angles have developed in connection with the senate investigation of the election of Senator Overton of Louisiana and Huey Long's part in the alleged frauds committed.

Some of these are cited by Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond, chairman of the "Women's Committee of Louisiana," in a renewed demand that the investigation be resumed. Mrs. Hammond addressed her telegram to Senator Connally, head of the senate committee. Copies were sent the individual members.

"Four more than six months," she said, "you have kept Mr. Holland (the committee's investigator) and several clerks on the payrolls at some $700 or $800 a month without authorizing them to take a single step in this investigation. Little money will be left by the middle of October for any effective purpose."

Mention was made also of the fact that Holland had been kept in Washington "without allowing him the least authority to prosecute any further investigation in Louisiana." Demand was made that he be returned to Louisiana to collect further evidence in preparation for the scheduled resumption of the hearing the middle of next month.

Whether Overton and Lony kept in the senate is a matter chiefly concerning Louisianians. The mystery that has marked the senate's investigation of the election, however, has given the case a nation-wide interest. The matter has reached a point where an investigation of the investigating committee seems to be in order. Reports and rumors that various influences and considerations had entered into the committee's work and are being circulated need to be probed.

"Senator Long has openly boasted that word has gone down to lay off of him," Mrs. Hammond said in her telegram. "We prefer to disbelieve Senator Long's statement, but the attitude of your committee must seem to confirm its truth."

There is no doubt that the course pursued by the senate committee has brought into serious question the sincerity of the latter. It has caused reflection to be cast upon higher officials in Washington.

Only one way remains for the committee to clean its record. That is to resume the investigation in a thorough and sweeping manner and to carry it to its logical end. The committee's self respect demands this.

There has been too much mystery. Nothing less than a complete lifting of the curtain will restore public confidence in the committee.

A Harvard professor returning from abroad says that Germany under Hitler has regained self-respect. But how about the respect of other nations and peoples, especially the Jews.

Watch Must Be Kept

THE position taken by the United States that any disarmament agreement reached will be useless unless some effective means of investigation is provided should need no supporting argument.

Even if it be conceded that signatory nations would keep their pledged word—although there are serious doubts if all would—the situation still would be unsatisfactory. Suspensions would be aroused and fears multiplied. A dangerous atmosphere would be provided.

The subject was discussed the other day by Norman H. Davis, American ambassador-at-large to the disarmament conference, with Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary. Mr. Davis was reported to have explained the American plan for investigation and urged its support by Great Britain. It would consist of periodic inspections of the armaments of the signatory nations. The inspections would be made every six months. A less precise arrangement was said to be favored by the British, but discussion of details of the two plans were left to the future.

Any plan which did not make

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR INVITED

Please write plainly. Please sign your name and address as an evidence of good faith. Your name won't be published, we'll use pen names, on general letters, if you insist. Letters criticizing or attacking individuals or organizations won't be printed unless the writers are willing to let their real names appear.

A business block in Burlington, Vt., was saved from destruction when 32 ginsung from melted coils in a building that caught fire quenched the flames. Prohibitionists will have to admit now that the new beer has its good qualities.

It's the gold eagle we are particularly interested in.

CHAPTER XXXVI

"Think of getting a girl like Joan these days, mother! Mother, do you realize what that means? Now aren't you glad I didn't fall in with your ideas about Eugenia? She's a peach and all that—but Joan—I can't tell you. She's like some mountain flower that grew up in the clean air away from the soot and dirt of the cities . . . all the bloom left on . . ."

"I know, Curtis. But isn't she just a little fortunate in finding you, too?"

He laughed. "Going to stand up for your son, aren't you?" He was always laughing now. Lyla Barstow almost loved Joan for making him so happy . . . and yet . . . she had made him happy once, he had been happy before he knew Joan, with-out any other woman in his life. Now she was just someone to talk to, someone to talk to about Joan.

"I want the wedding to be soon, but she's such a funny, shy little thing—I don't want to rush her too much. Do you suppose I could get her to consent to May?"

"May!"

"Or April—"

"Curtis—so soon?" Her heart sank.

"Soon? Call that soon? I'd be married now if she'd agree. Why don't you help me out a little? Tell her long engagements are unlucky. Go on—help me out—"

She touched his cheek with her delicate, blue-veined hand . . . Dear Curtis . . . how could she let him go?

"I'll help you, dear. But there will be much to do. I must do some entertaining for her. And you must speak to her about her aunts, the Misses Van Fleet, Curtis. We must have them here at least once before the wedding—"

So much to do. She'd babied him so. She had taken care of his clothes all his life, bought shirts and socks and ties . . . would Joan take all that from her too?

She remembered she hadn't sent that brown suit to the cleaner. She loved going into his room, the room he had had ever since he was a little boy, and straightening his things. It made her feel necessary, beloved.

She sang, softly, a little off the key, as she gathered up plus fours, a golf sweater, and the brown suit, to be left in the hall closet for Anne to give to the cleaner tomorrow. Automatically her fingers searched the pockets for the memorandums and loose change he never remembered to take out.

A pink letter! She laid it on the bureau with a sniff. Anyone who would use pink paper, and purple ink . . . There was no envelope, the large loosely formed words spelled themselves under her eyes. "Joan Hastings . . . disgrace . . . sailor . . . fifteen . . ."

The little song died on her lips.

"Curtis!" His mother came into the library with the pink letter in her hand.

He saw it, even before she spoke. Darn it—he'd left the thing where she could find it! Why didn't he destroy it at once, as he should have done? And he stiffened, with unreasonable, ashamed anger.

"Curtis, I found this—"

"I didn't intend that you should. It was in a pocket, wasn't it?"

Her delicate color rose, the wrinkled white hands began to flutter . . . he was hurting her so . . . pretending to think she had spied on him . . .

"Whenever Joan is concerned you're not yourself!" she said in her flat, toneless voice, with a hint of tears in it. "You know I came upon it by accident—"

"If that's the case—" He took it out of her hands, and tore it into shreds which he flung into the waste basket. "There's nothing more to be said. That's settled."

She could hear his hard breathing, as if he had been running. He snatched a paper, pretended to read.

"Curtis—"

She tried again. "Curtis—"

He laid down the paper with an elaborate air of patience. "Yes, mother?"

"Curtis, you owe it to Joan to look into this."

for the most thorough and searching inspection would be worse than useless. It would not be fair to the nations honestly intent upon carrying out their obligations. It would invite suspicion and mistrust, which would prove disastrous to the disarmament agreement.

Indications are that the subject will provoke long discussion when the conference reassembles, with the attitude of France a possible obstacle to early agreement. The French position is that the effectiveness of any inspection or control plan should be demonstrated before an agreement for arms reductions is signed.

While this attitude is understandable and is not without some force of logic, it seems a little extreme. There appears to be no valid reason why an effective method of control could not be agreed upon, especially if the nations represented in the conference sincerely desire one.

The point is one upon which will depend the solution of the disarmament question. That it is being emphasized in discussion preliminary to the reassembling of the conference shows the importance it bears to the purpose of the latter.

A business block in Burlington, Vt., was saved from destruction when 32 ginsung from melted coils in a building that caught fire quenched the flames. Prohibitionists will have to admit now that the new beer has its good qualities.

It's the gold eagle we are particularly interested in.

CHAPTER XXXVI

"Think of getting a girl like Joan these days, mother! Mother, do you realize what that means? Now aren't you glad I didn't fall in with your ideas about Eugenia? She's a peach and all that—but Joan—I can't tell you. She's like some mountain flower that grew up in the clean air away from the soot and dirt of the cities . . . all the bloom left on . . ."

"I know, Curtis. But isn't she just a little fortunate in finding you, too?"

He laughed. "Going to stand up for your son, aren't you?" He was always laughing now. Lyla Barstow almost loved Joan for making him so happy . . . and yet . . . she had made him happy once, he had been happy before he knew Joan, with-out any other woman in his life. Now she was just someone to talk to, someone to talk to about Joan.

"I want the wedding to be soon, but she's such a funny, shy little thing—I don't want to rush her too much. Do you suppose I could get her to consent to May?"

"May!"

"Or April—"

"Curtis—so soon?" Her heart sank.

"Soon? Call that soon? I'd be married now if she'd agree. Why don't you help me out a little? Tell her long engagements are unlucky. Go on—help me out—"

She touched his cheek with her delicate, blue-veined hand . . . Dear Curtis . . . how could she let him go?

"I'll help you, dear. But there will be much to do. I must do some entertaining for her. And you must speak to her about her aunts, the Misses Van Fleet, Curtis. We must have them here at least once before the wedding—"

So much to do. She'd babied him so. She had taken care of his clothes all his life, bought shirts and socks and ties . . . would Joan take all that from her too?

She remembered she hadn't sent that brown suit to the cleaner. She loved going into his room, the room he had had ever since he was a little boy, and straightening his things. It made her feel necessary, beloved.

She sang, softly, a little off the key, as she gathered up plus fours, a golf sweater, and the brown suit, to be left in the hall closet for Anne to give to the cleaner tomorrow. Automatically her fingers searched the pockets for the memorandums and loose change he never remembered to take out.

A pink letter! She laid it on the bureau with a sniff. Anyone who would use pink paper, and purple ink . . . There was no envelope, the large loosely formed words spelled themselves under her eyes. "Joan Hastings . . . disgrace . . . sailor . . . fifteen . . ."

The little song died on her lips.

"Curtis!" His mother came into the library with the pink letter in her hand.

He saw it, even before she spoke. Darn it—he'd left the thing where she could find it! Why didn't he destroy it at once, as he should have done? And he stiffened, with unreasonable, ashamed anger.

"Curtis, I found this—"

"I didn't intend that you should. It was in a pocket, wasn't it?"

Her delicate color rose, the wrinkled white hands began to flutter . . . he was hurting her so . . . pretending to think she had spied on him . . .

"Whenever Joan is concerned you're not yourself!" she said in her flat, toneless voice, with a hint of tears in it. "You know I came upon it by accident—"

"If that's the case—" He took it out of her hands, and tore it into shreds which he flung into the waste basket. "There's nothing more to be said. That's settled."

She could hear his hard breathing, as if he had been running. He snatched a paper, pretended to read.

"Curtis—"

She tried again. "Curtis—"

He laid down the paper with an elaborate air of patience. "Yes, mother?"

"Curtis, you owe it to Joan to look into this."

for the most thorough and searching inspection would be worse than useless. It would not be fair to the nations honestly intent upon carrying out their obligations. It would invite suspicion and mistrust, which would prove disastrous to the disarmament agreement.

Indications are that the subject will provoke long discussion when the conference reassembles, with the attitude of France a possible obstacle to early agreement. The French position is that the effectiveness of any inspection or control plan should be demonstrated before an agreement for arms reductions is signed.

While this attitude is understandable and is not without some force of logic, it seems a little extreme. There appears to be no valid reason why an effective method of control could not be agreed upon, especially if the nations represented in the conference sincerely desire one.

The point is one upon which will depend the solution of the disarmament question. That it is being emphasized in discussion preliminary to the reassembling of the conference shows the importance it bears to the purpose of the latter.

A business block in Burlington, Vt., was saved from destruction when 32 ginsung from melted coils in a building that caught fire quenched the flames. Prohibitionists will have to admit now that the new beer has its good qualities.

It's the gold eagle we are particularly interested in.

CHAPTER XXXVI

"Think of getting a girl like Joan these days, mother! Mother, do you realize what that means? Now aren't you glad I didn't fall in with your ideas about Eugenia? She's a peach and all that—but Joan—I can't tell you. She's like some mountain flower that grew up in the clean air away from the soot and dirt of the cities . . . all the bloom left on . . ."

"I know, Curtis. But isn't she just a little fortunate in finding you, too?"

He laughed. "Going to stand up for your son, aren't you?" He was always laughing now. Lyla Barstow almost loved Joan for making him so happy . . . and yet . . . she had made him happy once, he had been happy before he knew Joan, with-out any other woman in his life. Now she was just someone to talk to, someone to talk to about Joan.

"I want the wedding to be soon, but she's such a funny, shy little thing—I don't want to rush her too much. Do you suppose I could get her to consent to May?"

"May!"

"Or April—"

"Curtis—so soon?" Her heart sank.

"Soon? Call that soon? I'd be married now if she'd agree. Why don't you help me out a little? Tell her long engagements are unlucky. Go on—help me out—"

She touched his cheek with her delicate, blue-veined hand . . . Dear Curtis . . . how could she let him go?

"I'll help you, dear. But there will be much to do. I must do some entertaining for her. And you must speak to her about her aunts, the Misses Van Fleet, Curtis. We must have them here at least once before the wedding—"

So much to do. She'd babied him so. She had taken care of his clothes all his life, bought shirts and socks and ties . . . would Joan take all that from her too?

She remembered she hadn't sent that brown suit to the cleaner. She loved going into his room, the room he had had ever since he was a little boy, and straightening his things. It made her feel necessary, beloved.

She sang, softly, a little off the key, as she gathered up plus fours, a golf sweater, and the brown suit, to be left in the hall closet for Anne to give to the cleaner tomorrow. Automatically her fingers searched the pockets for the memorandums and loose change he never remembered to take out.

A pink letter! She laid it on the bureau with a sniff. Anyone who would use pink paper, and purple ink . . . There was no envelope, the large loosely formed words spelled themselves under her eyes. "Joan Hastings . . . disgrace . . . sailor . . . fifteen . . ."

The little song died on her lips.

"Curtis!" His mother came into the library with the pink letter in her hand.

He saw it, even before she spoke. Darn it—he'd left the thing where she could find it! Why didn't he destroy it at once, as he should have done? And he stiffened, with unreasonable, ashamed anger.

"Curtis, I found this—"

"I didn't intend that you should. It was in a pocket, wasn't it?"

Her delicate color rose, the wrinkled white hands began to flutter . . . he was hurting her so . . . pretending to think she had spied on him . . .

"Whenever Joan is concerned you're not yourself!" she said in her flat, toneless voice, with a hint of tears in it. "You know I came upon it by accident—"

"If that's the case—" He took it out of her hands, and tore it into shreds which he flung into the waste basket. "There's nothing more to be said. That's settled."

She could hear his hard breathing, as if he had been running. He snatched a paper, pretended to read.

"Curtis—"

She tried again. "Curtis—"

He laid down the paper with an elaborate air of patience. "Yes, mother?"

"Curtis, you owe it to Joan to look into this."

for the most thorough and searching inspection would be worse than useless. It would not be fair to the nations honestly intent upon carrying out their obligations. It would invite suspicion and mistrust, which would prove disastrous to the disarmament agreement.

Indications are that the subject will provoke long discussion when the conference reassembles, with the attitude of France a possible obstacle to early agreement. The French position is that the effectiveness of any inspection or control plan should be demonstrated before an agreement for arms reductions is signed.

While this attitude is understandable and is not without some force of logic, it seems a little extreme. There appears to be no valid reason why an effective method of control could not be agreed upon, especially if the nations represented in the conference sincerely desire one.

The point is one upon which will depend the solution of the disarmament question. That it is being emphasized in discussion preliminary to the reassembling of the conference shows the importance it bears to the purpose of the latter.

A business block in Burlington, Vt., was saved from destruction when 32 ginsung from melted coils in a building that caught fire quenched the flames. Prohibitionists will have to admit now that the new beer has its good qualities.

It's the gold eagle we are particularly interested in.

CHAPTER XXXVI

"Think of getting a girl like Joan these days, mother! Mother, do you realize what that means? Now aren't you glad I didn't fall in with your ideas about Eugenia? She's a peach and all that—but Joan—I can't tell you. She's like some mountain flower that grew up in the clean air away from the soot and dirt of the cities . . . all the bloom left on . . ."

"I know, Curtis. But isn't she just a little fortunate in finding you, too?"

He laughed. "Going to stand up for your son, aren't you?" He was always laughing now. Lyla Barstow almost loved Joan for making him so happy . . . and yet . . . she had made him happy once, he had been happy before he knew Joan, with-out any other woman in his life. Now she was just someone to talk to, someone to talk to about Joan.

"I want the wedding to be soon, but she's such a funny, shy little thing—I don't want to rush her too much. Do you suppose I could get her to consent to May?"

"May!"

"Or April—"

"Curtis—so soon?" Her heart sank.

"Soon? Call that soon? I'd be married now if she'd agree. Why don't you help me out a little? Tell her long engagements are unlucky. Go on—help me out—"

She touched his cheek with her delicate, blue-veined hand . . . Dear Curtis . . . how could she let him go?

"I'll help you, dear. But there will be much to do. I must do some entertaining for her. And you must speak to her about her aunts, the Misses Van Fleet, Curtis. We must have them here at least once before the wedding—"

So much to do. She'd babied him so. She had taken care of his clothes all his life, bought shirts and socks and ties . . . would Joan take all that from her too?

She remembered she hadn't sent that brown suit to the cleaner. She loved going into his room, the room he had had ever since he was a little boy, and straightening his things. It made her feel necessary, beloved.

She sang, softly, a little off the key, as she gathered up plus fours, a golf sweater, and the brown suit, to be left in the hall closet for Anne to give to the cleaner tomorrow. Automatically her fingers searched the pockets for the memorandums and loose change he never remembered to take out.

A pink letter! She laid it on the bureau with a sniff. Anyone who would use pink paper, and purple ink . . . There was no envelope, the large loosely formed words spelled themselves under her eyes. "Joan Hastings . . . disgrace . . . sailor . . . fifteen . . ."

The little song died on her lips.

"Curtis!" His mother came into the library with the pink letter in her hand.

He saw it, even before she spoke. Darn it—he'd left the thing where she could find it! Why didn't he destroy it at once, as he should have done? And he stiffened, with unreasonable, ashamed anger.

"Curtis, I found this—"

"I didn't intend that you should. It was in a pocket, wasn't it?"

Her delicate color rose, the wrinkled white hands began to flutter . . . he was hurting her so . . . pretending to think she had spied on him . . .

"Whenever Joan is concerned you're not yourself!" she said in her flat, toneless voice, with a hint of tears in it. "You know I came upon it by accident—"

"If that's the case—" He took it out of her hands, and tore it into shreds which he flung into the waste basket. "There's nothing more to be said. That's settled."

She could hear his hard breathing, as if he had been running. He snatched a paper, pretended to read.

"Curtis—"

She tried again. "Curtis—"

He laid down the paper with an elaborate air of patience. "Yes, mother?"

"Curtis, you owe it to Joan to look into this."

for the most thorough and searching inspection would be worse than useless. It would not be fair to the nations honestly intent upon carrying out their obligations. It would invite suspicion and mistrust, which would prove disastrous to the disarmament agreement.

Indications are that the subject will provoke long discussion when the conference reassembles, with the attitude of France a possible obstacle to early agreement. The French position is that the effectiveness of any inspection or control plan should be demonstrated before an agreement for arms reductions is signed.

While this attitude is understandable and is not without some force of logic, it seems a little extreme. There appears to be no valid reason why an effective method of control could not be agreed upon, especially if the nations represented in the conference sincerely desire one.

The point is one upon which will depend the solution of the disarmament question. That it is being emphasized in discussion preliminary to the reassembling of the conference shows the importance it bears to the purpose of the latter.

A business block in Burlington, Vt., was saved from destruction when 32 ginsung from melted coils in a building that caught fire quenched the flames. Prohibitionists will have to admit now that the new beer has its good qualities.

It's the gold eagle we are particularly interested in.

CHAPTER XXXVI

"Think of getting a girl like Joan these days, mother! Mother, do you realize what that means? Now aren't you glad I didn't fall in with your ideas about Eugenia? She's a peach and all that—but Joan—I can't tell you. She's like some mountain flower that grew up in the clean air away from the soot and dirt of the cities . . . all the bloom left on . . ."

"I know, Curtis. But isn't she just a little fortunate in finding you, too?"

He laughed. "Going to stand up for your son, aren't you?" He was always laughing now. Lyla Barstow almost loved Joan for making him so happy . . . and yet . . . she had made him happy once, he had been happy before he knew Joan, with-out any other woman in his life. Now she was just someone to talk to, someone to talk to about Joan.

"I want the wedding to be soon, but she's such a funny, shy little thing—I don't want to rush her too much. Do you suppose I could get her to consent to May?"

"May!"

"Or April—"

"Curtis—so soon?" Her heart sank.

"Soon? Call that soon? I'd be married now if she'd agree. Why don't you help me out a little? Tell her long engagements are unlucky. Go on—help me out—"

She touched his cheek with her delicate, blue-veined hand . . . Dear Curtis . . . how could she let him go?

You'll find it in the CLASSIFIED

The CIRCLEVILLE HERALD and THE UNION-HERALD CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INFORMATION

All ads are restricted to the proper classification and to the regular Circleville Herald style of type. The publishers reserve the right to edit or reject any classified advertising copy.

Advertising orders for irregular insertion takes the one-time rate. No ad is taken for less than a basis of three lines. Count five average words to the line on paid advertisements.

Charged ads will be received by telephone, and if paid at Circleville Herald office within six days from the first day of insertion cash rate will be allowed.

Ads ordered for three or seven times and stopped before expiration will be charged for only the number of times the ad appeared and adjustment made at the rate earned. All ads ordered seven times will be published in the Union-Herald (Weekly), and will be counted as one insertion, as will three-line ads ordered printed in Tuesday or Wednesday's issues of the Daily.

Ads received up to 10:30 A. M. will be inserted the same day. A charge of 50 cents is made for publishing Cards of Thanks.

Special rates for yearly advertising upon request. Careful attention given to mail orders.

Rate per line for consecutive insertions: One time 9c per line. Three times 25c per line. Seven times 75c per line. Prices on Display Classified furnished on request.

The publisher will be responsible only for one incorrect insertion of any advertisement.

Business Service

21—Dressmaking—Millinery

WANTED—Dress making and remodeling. Josephine Bartley, 150 Watt-st. Phone 605. —18

WANTED—Sewing of any kind by experienced dressmaker. Bease W. Harper, 335 E. Main-st. Phone 1285. —23

25—Moving, Trucking

CIRCLEVILLE TRANSFER CO.—Local, long distance hauling. Phone 1227. Load insured. —25

Employment

37—Employment Wanted—Male

MARRIED MAN wants work on farm, 15 yrs. exp. Write Box L. care Herald. —37

33—Male Help Wanted

TEA AND COFFEE ROUTE MEN—Big reliable national company, needs 3 more men immediately. Previous experience unnecessary, but must be physically able and willing to serve 200 steady customers on regular route and work 8 hours a day for about $37.50 weekly. Write Albert Miller, Route 2532, Monmouth, Cincinnati, Ohio. —33

MAN WANTED to supply customers with famous Watkins products in Circleville. Business established, earnings average $25 weekly, pay starts immediately. Write J. R. Watkins Company, 242-60 E. Naghten-st., Columbus, Ohio. —32

Livestock

47—Dogs, Cats, Other Pets

CANARIES—Guaranteed singers $2.00. Sherman Barr, 146 Town st. —47

49—Poultry and Supplies

FOR SALE—Extra good barrel and white rock chickens already started. Corman's Poultry Farm and Hatchery. Phone 1834. —49

Merchandise

51—Articles for Sale

FOR SALE—Used electric washer, $10; Moore's air tight heater, $17.50; good Climax coal range $18; new mattress, $5.95; new cot, springs, $7.50; good 8 pc walnut dining suite, $25. See Peters, at E. Ringgold. —51

Real Estate For Rent

74—Apartments and Flats

FOR RENT—Modern flat over Friedman's Store, either for office or living rooms. Phone 1372. —74

77—House for Rent

BRICK HOUSE and garage for rent at 157 Watt-st. Modern except furnace. Call H. S. or W. F. Heffner. —77

FOR RENT—6 room single, newly decorated, gas, electricity and water. 2 car garage. 348 E. Mound-st. Write P. O. Box 132. —77

76—Farms and Land for Rent

FARM FOR RENT—162 acres improved. Apply M. F. Reiche, 162 W. Main-st. —76

Help Yourself to Savings with WANT ADS

Real Estate For Sale

76—Farms for Sale

FOR SALE—A nice country home of 108 acres, good improvements, consisting of two houses, two barns, etc., with electricity available, located on state route within 4 miles of city; 4-room brick cottage, electricity and gas, on a large lot on Franklin-st; 5-room frame dwelling with barn, on Pickaway-st, $2,400.00; 6-room frame dwelling on Scioto-st, $1,100.00; A dandy country home of three acres just off Route 22; 25 acre tract on Darbyville Pike, $800.00; A dandy modern house on Main-st; A dandy Columbus home to trade for Circleville property. For further information call or see CIRCLE REALTY CO. Phone 234, Rooms 3 and 4, Masonic Temple. —83

Classified Display

Automotive

LATE MODLES

1928 Ford Tudor, $95.00.
1929 Ford Tudor, $185.00.
1930 Chevrolet Coach, $250.00.
1931 Chevrolet Coach, $285.00.
1931 Chevrolet D. L. Coach, $325.00.
1929 Chevrolet Spt. Roadster, $150.00.
1929 Whippet Sedan, $152.00.
1929 Whippet Coupe, $85.00.
Pontiac Coupe, $35.00.
Ford Tudor, $35.00.
1929 Ch. Howard Truck, $135.00.
1931 Essex Sedan, $295.00.

The Harden-Stevenson Co.

132 E. Franklin St. Phone 522.

Business Service

PASS BOOKS

DO YOU know you need not lose money on your pass book? For further information, write F. D. McDonald, Jr., 751 First Central Tower, Akron, Ohio.

FOOT TROUBLES

Treated by DR. H. L. COLLINS, CHIROPODIST AND FOOT SPECIALIST, 115 1/2 E. Main St. Thursday Evenings Only. Phone 64

IT'S EVERGREEN PLANTING TIME

Plant Now for All Year Beauty.

Evergreens Are Not Expensive.

BREHMER'S GREENHOUSES

Put Your Surplus Funds to Work in

The Scioto's Certificates of Deposit or Savings Account.

All funds secured by First Mortgage on Real Estate.

THE SCIOTO BUILDING & LOAN CO.

J. C. Goeller, President
E. S. Nending, Vice President
O. S. Howard, Treasurer
F. R. Nicholas, Secretary
C. A. Leist, Attorney

PAINT

Elastic Black roof paint, 5 gal. pails, 50c per gal.; 40 gal. drums, 38c per gal.
Black Asbestos roof paint. Makes leaky roofs good as new. 5 gal. pails, 50c per gal.; 40 gal. drums, 44c per gal.
Red Barn and roof paint, 81c per gal. and up.
Smooth or slate roll roofing, $1.85 and 82c per roll.
Blond house paint, none better, $2.40 per gal.
Jumbo house paint, $1.45 per gal.
Major Spar varnish good for every and any use. Now $2.25 per gal.
Pure white lead, $10.40 per 100 lbs.
Any and everything in paint list.

Real Estate For Rent

74—Apartments and Flats

FOR RENT—Modern flat over Friedman's Store, either for office or living rooms. Phone 1372. —74

77—House for Rent

BRICK HOUSE and garage for rent at 157 Watt-st. Modern except furnace. Call H. S. or W. F. Heffner. —77

FOR RENT—6 room single, newly decorated, gas, electricity and water. 2 car garage. 348 E. Mound-st. Write P. O. Box 132. —77

76—Farms and Land for Rent

FARM FOR RENT—162 acres improved. Apply M. F. Reiche, 162 W. Main-st. —76

Help Yourself to Savings with WANT ADS

BUS SCHEDULE

VALLY PUBLIC SERVICE CO.

NORTH BOUND

Leave Circleville—6:38 8:18 10:18 A. M. 12:18 1:18 2:18
3:18 5:18 6:18 7:18 9:18 11:08 P. M.

SOUTH BOUND

Leave Circleville—6:57 8:37 10:37 A. M. 12:37 1:37 2:37
3:37 5:37 6:37 7:37 9:37 11:57 P. M.

North Bound Busses leaving Circleville at 6:38 a. m., 6:18 p. m. go through Ashville.
South Bound Busses leaving Circleville at 6:57 a. m., 12:37, 6:37, 11:57 p. m. go through Kingston.

Bus Terminal . . . Cook's Confectionery
128 N. Court St.

Classified Display

Merchandise

FOR SALE

USED STOVES AND RANGES. Order stove repairs now.

J. R. WILSON
Pythian Castle Alley. Phone 70.

MILLER'S CREEK KY. BLOCK COAL

Best Coal Mined
S. C. GRANT
Phone 461.

Coal, Coke, Builders' Supplies, Tile. Agent for Dean & Barry's Paints.

N. T. WELDON

Phone 714.

Draught Beer On Tap

THE MECCA Restaurant

Phone 546. 238 W. Main St.

Coal Prices Advancing

We have Pocahontas, West Va. and Ky Block and Egg Coal. Buy Now.

HELVERING & SCHARENBERG.

Livestock

CALL CIRCLEVILLE FERTILIZER

Reverse TEL 1364 Reverse Charge Circleville, Ohio E. G. Buchsleb, Inc.

RHEUMATISM

Pain—Agony Starts To Leave in 24 Hours
Happy Days Ahead for You

Think of it—how this old world does make progress—now comes a prescription which is known to pharmacists as Allenru and within 48 hours after you start to take this swift acting formula pain, agony and inflammation caused by excess uric acid has started to depart.

Allenru does just what this notice says it will do—it is guaranteed. You can get one generous bottle at leading druggstores everywhere for 85 cents and if it doesn't bring the joyous results you expect—your money whole heartedly returned.

Put Your Surplus Funds to Work in

The Scioto's Certificates of Deposit or Savings Account.

All funds secured by First Mortgage on Real Estate.

THE SCIOTO BUILDING & LOAN CO.

J. C. Goeller, President
E. S. Nending, Vice President
O. S. Howard, Treasurer
F. R. Nicholas, Secretary
C. A. Leist, Attorney

PAINT

Elastic Black roof paint, 5 gal. pails, 50c per gal.; 40 gal. drums, 38c per gal.
Black Asbestos roof paint. Makes leaky roofs good as new. 5 gal. pails, 50c per gal.; 40 gal. drums, 44c per gal.
Red Barn and roof paint, 81c per gal. and up.
Smooth or slate roll roofing, $1.85 and 82c per roll.
Blond house paint, none better, $2.40 per gal.
Jumbo house paint, $1.45 per gal.
Major Spar varnish good for every and any use. Now $2.25 per gal.
Pure white lead, $10.40 per 100 lbs.
Any and everything in paint list.

Real Estate For Rent

74—Apartments and Flats

FOR RENT—Modern flat over Friedman's Store, either for office or living rooms. Phone 1372. —74

77—House for Rent

BRICK HOUSE and garage for rent at 157 Watt-st. Modern except furnace. Call H. S. or W. F. Heffner. —77

FOR RENT—6 room single, newly decorated, gas, electricity and water. 2 car garage. 348 E. Mound-st. Write P. O. Box 132. —77

76—Farms and Land for Rent

FARM FOR RENT—162 acres improved. Apply M. F. Reiche, 162 W. Main-st. —76

Help Yourself to Savings with WANT ADS

BUS SCHEDULE

VALLY PUBLIC SERVICE CO.

NORTH BOUND

Leave Circleville—6:38 8:18 10:18 A. M. 12:18 1:18 2:18
3:18 5:18 6:18 7:18 9:18 11:08 P. M.

SOUTH BOUND

Leave Circleville—6:57 8:37 10:37 A. M. 12:37 1:37 2:37
3:37 5:37 6:37 7:37 9:37 11:57 P. M.

North Bound Busses leaving Circleville at 6:38 a. m., 6:18 p. m. go through Ashville.
South Bound Busses leaving Circleville at 6:57 a. m., 12:37, 6:37, 11:57 p. m. go through Kingston.

Bus Terminal . . . Cook's Confectionery
128 N. Court St.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Continued From Page One

on the various recovery fronts, the President has been quietly surveying the scope of his powers to combat the Administration's foes. Among his close advisers, the little regarded income tax card is considered an ace of the New Deal.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has recommended against playing it. Too many examples of tax evasions would be shown up. I. R. officials say.

Reverse German

Dr. Hans Luther, Mayor of Essen, former President of the Reichsbank, one of the creators of the Reichsmark, and now Ambassador to the U. S. A., was crossing the Atlantic recently with a prominent New York banker. Talking about Germany's future, he said:

"Why, look at our resources. Beneath the soil of the Fatherland, we have coal, potash, minerals. Above the soil, we have our Hitler, Goering and Goebbels."

The American mused a moment and replied:

"I think it would be better if your treasures were distributed in the reverse."

Merry-Go-Round

A suggestion has been made to the State Department that the little pigs killed in order to get the Federal $4 bounty and then thrown into the Mississippi river should have been sent to starving Cuba instead. Assistant Secretary Caffery, in charge of Cuban affairs, has a large map of the island on which he sticks little pins to designate the presence of American warships. Red-headed pins mean destroyers, yellow pins mean cruisers. A white pin designates the giant battleship Mississippi. Pearl pins mean coast guard cutters. President Roosevelt is much interested in a plan to make rum in the Virgin Islands under a government monopoly.

The Virgin Islands once made the best rum in the Western Hemisphere. The Governor now charged with organizing the new rum mill is a Philadelphia Quaker who has been a teetotaler all his life.

(Copyright, 1933, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

JUST KIDS

THAT'S MR. VAN STILLWATER TEEN' OFF—SO WE GOTTA BE VERY CAREFUL AN' HARDLY BREATHE!

WHO IS VAN STILLWATER—MUSH?

OH—HE'S AWFUL RICH AN' HE SENT ME BACK TO THE CADDY-HOUSE ON ACCOUNT I WOULDN'T KICK HIS BALL OUTTA THE ROUGH WHEN NOBODY WAS LOOKIN'!

OH—YEAH?

SO YOU'RE CADDYING AFTER I SENT YOU BACK TO THE CLUBHOUSE? I WANT TO TELL YOU SOMETHING—YOUNG STEBBINS—

AND I WANT TO TELL YOU SOMETHING—VAN STILL-TWITTER—

VAN STILLWATER—WHATEVER IT IS—THIS NOT—VAN STILL-TWITTER? CADDY AND AS LONG AS I'M IN THE TOURNAMENT I'LL CADDY FOR ME! WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THAT?

AN' BATTLIN' BUMPS LEADS WITH HIS LEFT AN' JABS A RIGHT TO THE RIBS JUST AS THE ROUND ENDS.

OH, MIC—

ISN'T THAT JUST GORGEOUS?

I'M SHOCKED—A GIRL PLAYING A BOYS GAME AND ON A SUNDAY TOO

WHAT WOULD YOUR FATHER SAY IF HE KNEW THIS?

I DUNNO BUT THERE HE IS PLAYIN' THIRD BASE GO OVER AND ASK HIM

COME ON NOW PUT ONE OVER

By George McManus

By Charles McManus

By Ad Carter

By George McManus

By Charles McManus

By Ad Carter

By George McManus

"THAT LITTLE GAME"—THE DISTURBER

YOU KNOW I TOLD YOU ABOUT MY BOY ROSCOE HAVIN' THE WHOOPIN' COUGH. HE HAD A BAD NIGHT LAST NIGHT! HONEST JIM, I THOUGHT HE'D STRANGLE—THE POOR KID GOT PURPLE ALL OVER—WHOOP AN' GAG—JIM, I NEVER HEARD NOTHIN' LIKE IT—YOU KNOW IF THEY CAN COUGH UP THE PHLEGM IT RELIEVES THEM, BUT ROSCOE'S COUGH SEEMS SO TIGHT, NOW WHEN AMELIA HAD IT, ETC—ETC—

YEAH! YEAH!

WHAT DOES HE CARE ABOUT ROSCOE AND THE WHOOPIN' COUGH! LET HIM CHOKE! IT'S THE REST OF THE GANG HE'S THINKING OF! WHY DON'T THEY COME? WHY AREN'T THEY HERE? HOLDING UP THE GAME—COISES ON 'EM! COISES, COISES AND MORE COISES!

AMANDA

Roscoe Clements moved his family into the Margaret Fausnaugh property on W. Main-st. last week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Povenmire and son Dale, visited in Columbus Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Trout have for their house guest this week Mr. and Mrs. Justice F. Trout and son Juddy of Ashland, Ky.

DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Longbrake and son, entertained a chicken dinner, Sunday.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Newsome all of Stockport, Ohio; Mrs. Cora Fisher of Polk, Pa.; Mrs. Erlic Elsas, Mrs. Olive Longbrake.

The pleasant affair was arranged in joint celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Henry Longbrake. Mrs. Erlic Elsas, Clarence Longbrake, and C. R. Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dickson and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mettler and daughter, Barbara Jean, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mettler of Columbus, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Harry Voris, son Walter, and daughter, Mary of Columbus spent Friday at the William Dun-ford home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Minie and family of Columbus visited Sunday afternoon with the former's mother, Mrs. J. E. Rieman who is on the sick list.

Paul Stettin and Francis V. Leist were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Clark of Chillicothe and were accompanied home by Gus Leist who was a week-end visitor at the Clark home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Swickard (Nondus Miesse) of New Albany were callers at the J. E. Roberts home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reed entertained to a 12 o'clock dinner, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bilkam and daughter, Mildred of Westerville.

Edward Stumm of Cincinnati spent Thursday and Friday at the George Reed home.

The annual Fausnaugh family reunion was Sunday Sept. 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Kerns. The day was spent in games and pleasant social converse and at the noon hour the following kinfolks and friends enjoyed a bountiful picnic dinner: Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Fausnaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fausnaugh and family, Mr. and Mrs. Turney Heffner and family, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Brown and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Kerns and family, Wilbur and Freda Allen and Don Hammit.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Phillip, daughter Marjorie and son, Gay, lord and Miss Myrtle Bushee enjoyed a week-end visit with their daughter, Mrs. Howard Cole and family of Carey, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bownocker of Columbus were Sunday afternoon guests at the John Potts home.

The next regular Grange meeting will be Friday Sept. 22 instead of Oct. 6.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Aldenderfer of Tilton; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Phillips and son, Joel, motored to Springfield Sunday and were delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Morris and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barr and children, Betty and George were the Sunday guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stump of Mound Crossing.

Miss Alice Diney of Lancaster, and Mrs. Irene Busser and Jaunita Kougher were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roush, south of Amanda.

Mrs. Rhes Rosenberry and Mrs. Effie Lutz spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bushee of Lancaster.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hosler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rhoads of Ashville were Sunday afternoon guests of the former's father, Mr. John Hosler and daughter, Mrs. Jessie Bussert.

The St. Thomas Lutheran church near the B. I. S. held their annual homecoming Sunday, Sept. 16. Rev. Wenrick of Stoutsville, their pastor 43 years ago, was the main speaker. William and John Boichers also rendered several religious violin and piano duets.

St. Thomas is the home church of the Boichers-Martins families. Those who attended from here were Mrs. Ella Boichers and sons, Charles and Katherine Boichers.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Peddycoat spent Sunday afternoon with the latter's sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander of near Carroll.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Johnston and daughter, Beatrice Jane attended the Annual Conference at the First Church at Columbus Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rieman of Cleveland visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rieman Monday afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Dunford and family have been the house guests of the former's parents the past two weeks spent several days at the Century of Progress exposition and attended the National Sociology meeting at Chicago prior to their return home in Knoxville, Tenn.

The undersigned banks of Circleville will close at twelve o'clock

SOCIETY

By Helen Crist, Editor, Phone 281.

LOGAN ELM GRANGE HAS ANNUAL INSPECTION

With Turney M. Glick, Washington-twp, county deputy, acting as inspecting officer, the Logan Elm grange had its annual inspection at the meeting Tuesday evening at Pickaway-twp school. Mr. Glick was highly pleased with the progress of the grange and made a very favorable report.

The third and fourth degrees were conferred upon Charles Kreisel, following the inspection. A program followed in the high school auditorium. It included: Saxophone and clarinet duet by Donald and George Miller, accompanied by Mrs. Clifford Miller at the piano; Reading, "Conservation Conscious" by Miss Ruth McKenzie; Vocal duet by Loring Hill and Ray Beery accompanied by Miss Ruth McKenzie at the piano; Talk, "Raising Better Pigs," by G. D. Bradley; Musical reading by Miss Hazel Wolford accompanied by Miss Gladys Rader at the piano and playlet, "The Sixer," with Mr. and Mrs. John Kuhn, Ray Beery and Mrs. William Hagele, taking part. The program was closed with a clarinet and saxophone duet played by Donald and George Miller.

Refreshments were served to 70 persons late in the evening. The following chairmen were responsible for the meeting: Mrs. Ralph Head, food; Mrs. Marvin H. Dreishach, decorations; and Mrs. E. C. Wilkins, program.

DINNER HONORS COUPLE'S BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARIES

Celebrating their birthday anniversaries, Mr. and Mrs. John Baer, S. Pickaway-st, entertained at a family dinner at their home Wednesday. Mr. Baer reached the age of 83 Wednesday and Mrs. Baer celebrated her 65th birthday anniversary last Monday.

A dinner was enjoyed at noon by Mr. and Mrs. Will Baer and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Baer and family of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baer and family of Chillicothe, and Robert Wilson of Marion.

MRS. PARKS ENTERTAINS

500 CLUB TUESDAY EVE
Mrs. R. C. Parks, S. Scioto-st, was hostess to her 500 club of three tables at her home Tuesday evening. After several rounds of the planned division, high score prizes were awarded Mrs. Fred Fissell, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mason and R. C. Brown.

Mrs. Parks served refreshments late in the evening to club members and two guests, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fissell.

The club will meet again in three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. William Betts.

SPECIAL MEETING OF EASTERN STAR TONIGHT

Mrs. Lawrence J. Johnson, worthy matron of the Eastern Star, has called a special meeting of all members of the chapter for Wednesday at 7:15 p. m. The meeting will be held in the Red Room, with business of importance to be transacted.

LAWFUL PREY

There is hardly anything in the world that some one cannot make a little worse and sell it a little cheaper; and the people who consider price only are this man's lawful prey.

Mader & Ebert FUNERAL SERVICE

Circleville, Ohio.

CLIFTONA CIRCLEVILLE'S NEW MODERN THEATRE

R. C. A. "HIGH FIDELITY" SOUND EQUIPMENT

NRA LAST TIMES TODAY

Bargain Hour 6:30-7:30 10c-20c (Tax Included)

SYLVIA SIDNEY Bennie Gerhardt

Comedy and Screen Souvenirs

Thursday - Friday BARGAIN HOUR THURSDAY

MIDNIGHT CLUB

THE BROOD

A gentleman a polite society. A figure of the shadow world. Risking necks for loot and love!

D. A. R. MEMBERS ENJOY PICNIC AT LOGAN ELM

Threatening weather did not prevent the picnic planned by the Pickaway Plains Chapter. Daughters of the American Revolution from being held at Logan Elm park, south of town, Tuesday evening. A large number of the members of the chapter, together with girl scout troops from Circleville and Pickaway-twp, were in attendance, with the meeting being held in the park's spacious shelter house.

At 4 p. m. Mrs. Harry J. Dunlap, local regent, presided at a business session. Prayer was offered by the chaplain, Mrs. C. C. Watts and the flag salutation followed.

Mrs. Charles Gerhardt, recording secretary, presented reports of the most recent meeting and of the meeting of board of management. A transportation committee for the chapter, composed of Mrs. Harry Heffner, chairman, Mrs. Dwight Steele and Mrs. H. O. Pile, was named.

It was announced that the chapter would assist the Benevolent association during the Pumpkin Show by assuming charge of the booth on Wednesday of that week.

Reports were given by Mrs. R. Bales, chairman of the auditing committee, Mrs. W. T. Ulm, chairman of the program committee, and Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker, who gave a review of the important events in the local organization's activities during 1931 and 1932.

Meetings of coming interest were read. They include: Central district meeting, Hotel Harding, Marion, Oct. 3 at 10 a. m.; Meeting at Cincinnati Oct. 11-13; Ohio History Day, Logan Elm, Oct. 1; Attorney General W. Bricker, speaker.

Miss Mary Radcliff, chairman of the program committee for September, presented Mrs. Ward Robinson and Miss Kathleen Dilaver, who directed the splendid entertainment furnished by Circleville Girl Scout Troop No. 2 and Logan Elm Troop No. 1 of Pickaway-twp, respectively. An Indian pageant was presented, with the natural outdoor amphitheatre near the Logan Elm and cluster of trees in the background, adding much to the realism of the subject of presentation. The pageant depicted the America of yesterday and was contributed by the Circleville scouts in Indian costume, with Wahnetta Barnhart in the leading role.

Logan Elm troop gave a clever demonstration of its scout work, Miss Rosemary Boggs reading the paper of explanation.

At the conclusion of the interesting program, both troops formed in a circle and sang the scout songs. A bountiful picnic followed. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Orion King, chairman, Miss Helen Yates, Miss Alice Ada May, Mrs. Seymour Millar and Mrs. H. O. Pile.

Mrs. Eleanor Wolfley Bissell of Washington D. C., was an out-of-town guest at the picnic. The next meeting of the chapter will be held Oct. 17, with the committee, Mrs. William Mack, chairman; Mrs. Noah Warner, Mrs. Lee Shaner, Mrs. Thomas Sweeney, Mrs. Adrian Yates and Mrs. H. M. Crites, entertaining.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN TO MEET THURSDAY

The Presbyterian Women's Social Club will hold its first Autumn meeting in the social room of the church, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Officers for the coming year will be elected and an interesting program has been planned. All women of the church are requested to be present. Miss Hulda Seyfert, president of the group, will preside.

MRS. BARRERE IS LUNCHEON GUEST

Mrs. Elgar Barrere, this city, was among the 20 guests who attended the weekly golf luncheon at the Chillicothe Country Club Monday.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

That in the death of Fannie B. Wilkes, the Monday Club has lost a faithful friend, a member, who identified with the club from its organization, was always prompt and efficient in the performance of duty.

That we extend to her husband our sympathy and appreciation of his loss and recommend that a copy of this memorial be sent to him, to The Circleville Herald and be spread upon the minutes of the club.

THE MONDAY CLUB,
Mrs. M. Jones,
Miss Grace Moodie,
Miss Sadie Brunner.

"BUY YOUR ICE CREAM FROM A FURNAS DEALER"

furnas Ice Cream

The Cream of Quality.

Held in Kidnap Plot

Mrs. Jean Costello, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who is held in $10,000 bond on suspicion of being implicated in a plot to kidnap Dr. Albert E. Fritz, prominent Brooklyn surgeon. Federal operatives claim the extortion notes received by Dr. Fritz were written on a typewriter in Mrs. Costello's home. John Isola, an aviator, is also under arrest in the case.

BIBLE CLASS MEETING POSTPONED ONE WEEK

The regular social meeting of the Shining Light Bible Class of the United Brethren church, which was to have been held Thursday evening, has been postponed one week.

ASHVILLE COUPLE HONORED SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Eaglin of near Ashville, were entertained on their sixth wedding anniversary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alfordson, Lancaster, Sunday.

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN LADIES' AID TO MEET

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Church of the Brethren will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected. All members are urged to be present. Mrs. Laura Rogers, president, will preside.

PYTHIAN SISTERS TO MEET AT 8 P. M.

The Pythian Sisters will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday, instead of 7:30 as previously announced.

Miss Helen Allen, a trained nurse at General Hospital, Cincinnati, has returned to her work after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Fred Gerrett of Washington-twp.

PERSONALS

Miss Evelyn Eichinger has resumed her studies at Ohio university. She is a junior.

Miss Eichinger and Miss Helen West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry West, W. Main-st, are roommates at the Athens school.

Avery and Henry Eichinger have taken an apartment in the Dunton block, S. Court-st.

Mrs. Mary McDill, Wayne-twp, mother of Ralph McDill and sister of W. S. Gearhart, this city, is seriously ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown, N. Pickaway-st, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Stout, N. Court-st, were dinner guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gray of Wayne-twp.

Thomas D. Harmon of Baltimore, Md., arrived Wednesday for a short visit with his family at the home of Mrs. H. C. Allen, S. Court-st.

Mrs. James Turner of Rochester, N. Y., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Meinhardt Crites, and Mr. Crites and daughter, W. Franklin-st.

The condition of Mrs. H. M. Crites, S. Court-st, who has been ill at her home, is improved.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Turner of Rushville are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Hammel, N. Court-st.

LEGION TO CHOOSE OFFICERS TONIGHT

Howard Hall post, American Legion, has its annual election of officers this evening with a 100 per cent attendance hoped for. Nominations will be announced at the meeting and the election will immediately follow.

Orin Dresbach, Pickaway-twp, is the present commander.

MARKETS

(Furnished by Pickaway-co Farm Bureau)

LIVESTOCK MARKETS

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts, 55,000, 10 higher. Mediums 180 to 220, 5.00 to 5.25. Cattle 10,000. Calves 2,000. Lambs 8,000.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts 1000, active, 20 to 25 higher. Mediums 160 to 220, 5.10 to 5.75. Sows 3.00 to 3.75. Calves 8.00. Lambs 7.40.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts, 5,100, active to 5 higher. Mediums 180 to 270, 5.35. Calves 7.00. Lambs 7.50.

CIRCLEVILLE, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts 5.75. Heavies 4.90. Mediums 5.15. Lights 4.50. Pigs 350 government pigs.

BUFFALO, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts 10,100, 15 to 25 higher. Mediums 160 to 220, 5.60.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts, 12,000, 10 to 25 higher. Mediums 160 to 300, 4.90 to 5.35.

CHICAGO GRAINS

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Grain futures opened easier here today. Wheat was 1 3-8 to 1 3-4 off.

GRAND Theatre

Tonight and Thursday

RALPH BELLAMY and FAY

WRAY in

'BELOW THE SEA'

Comedy—Universal News

Magic Carpet

The Firm of

Jeffries & Colville

is Now

Open for Business

DRY GOODS, READY-TO-WEAR AND

FLOOR COVERINGS

corn 3-4 to 1 1-8c down and oats 5-8c lower.

Wheat: Dec. 95 3-4, 96 1-2; May 61, 100 1-2, 101.

Corn: Dec. 54 1-2, 3-4; May 61, 61 1-8.

Oats: Dec. 41 3-4, 42; May 45 1-2, 5-8.

PALM, GRIFFEY FREE

Bertie Palm and George Griffey, arrested early Tuesday for intoxication were each given fines of $10 and costs and 30 days in the county jail by Mayor B. T. Hedges, Tuesday, and all was suspended.

TAR BRINGS FEAR OF HUGE BLAZE

The fire department answered a call to the rear of the Colonial Carriage Co., W. Main-st, at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday where a container of hot tar belonging to the Pickaway-co highway department was on fire.

There was so much smoke emanating from the scene that it was first believed that the old Colonial Carriage building was ablaze.

LABOR WIELDS

(Continued From Page One)

Opposition of economic advisers to price-fixing may lead to a new declaration by the N.R.A.

President Roosevelt's request to steel companies to cut steel rail costs, to permit inauguration of railroad program with public works fund, carried to steel code meeting in New York by Deputy Administrator Simpson.

A Store Filled with New Fall Merchandise

Meeting Every
Need for Fall!

CRIST DEPT. STORE

Brand New FASHIONS, STYLES and SIZES for EVERYONE

Fur adds a successful note to

Cloth Coats

$17.50 To $64.50

Furs are worn higher and higher this year. There's just as much fur but it's worn with a difference.

There's something so remarkably wearable about new Fall

HATS

$2.00 $2.95 $3.95

We have all the newest interpretations in Crepes, Felts and Satins. New colors, and large and small head sizes.

NEW FALL DRESSES

New Wools, New Silks, New Styles for every use. Jacket styles, wider shoulders, interesting sleeves, shoulder wings. Sizes for misses and women.

Yards and yards of new fall silks, rayon prints and light weight woolens. At very low prices.

Bought before the rise in prices.

BLANKETS

Flaids or plain soft fleecy cotton or part wool in single and double bed sizes

59c To $3.95

New Floor Coverings

We bought on the low market a most complete selection of room-size rugs in Velvets, Axminsters and Wiltons, also new patterns in Gold Seal Congoleum Rugs, and goods by the yard. We now are offering you this merchandise at the same low prices.

88c Sale Ends Saturday, Sept. 23

Come fill your needs for fall and winter, for we are selling many items below wholesale cost.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO BE A SHARPSHOOTER

THREE TIMES HIGH MAN on the U. S. International Dewar .22-calibre rifle team, and former U. S. small bore champion, Virgil Richard is professional shooter for Remington Arms Co., Inc. He always has to be a brilliant marksman—regardless of sun, wind, or rain. There is no question about his knowing the secret of healthy nerves!

DURING THE DAY'S SHOOTING, and later around the evening fire, Camels add to the pleasure of your outing. As Virgil Richard says, "Camels are a much milder cigarette and they never interfere with my nervous control, no matter how much I smoke."

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

VIRGIL RICHARD, in discussing smoking and shooting, says: "People often ask me if a professional sharpshooter can smoke as much as he wants. I've been enjoying cigarettes for years, without difficulty in keeping my nerves in shape for making record scores in tournament shooting events. That's because I have long been a Camel smoker. I have experimented with all the popular brands, and I find Camels are better for steady smoking. They're a much milder cigarette, and they never interfere with my nervous control, no matter how much I smoke."

Switch to Camels. You'll like the remarkable mildness... the fine, rich flavor of Camel's costlier tobaccos. You'll have satisfying proof that Camels do not interfere with healthy nerves.

A MATCHLESS BLEND

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS

NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES... NEVER TIRE YOUR TASTE

Copyright, 1933, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

The Influence of Mrs. Roosevelt On White House Policy

WASHINGTON—The people of Washington have now seen quite a little of Mrs. Roosevelt and have come to think they know her. How superficial is their acquaintance, how much it was based only upon White House teas was revealed last week at the Conference on the Mobilization for Human Needs. Two qualities in Mrs. Roosevelt cropped out which most people had not realized. First she is a decided realist. She does not hesitate to call a spade a spade. Second, her jaunts around the country have not been merely on pleasure. She has been observing things and a lot of her observations—shared with her husband—have had an important influence on White House policy. It was, for instance, as a direct result of Mrs. Roosevelt's visit to company towns in West Virginia mining regions that General Johnson banned script payments to miners in the coal code. On these trips, Mrs. Roosevelt does not talk politics. She talks economics, social conditions, how people live. How great her interest and how great her realism are were illustrated during her speech before the Human Needs Conference, which she concluded as follows: "Someone recently said to me that I was too sentimental about human want. They claimed that people who never had much, never suffer much. "When I heard that I could not help thinking of the farm mother I saw a few weeks ago whose child had just died. It had died because it slept on a cold, wet bed. It had to sleep on that kind of a bed because the family had been evicted. "The mother told me that she had remonstrated with the sheriff that her baby was ill. She said he merely answered: 'I ain't here to nurse your kids.' "If the owner of that house had been there and had seen that sick child, I am sure he could not have put the family out. But he was somewhere else."

Shirt-Sleeve Diplomacy

Two young college men from North Carolina seeking government jobs in the Capital, were referred to the NRA. They took up places in the long line of applicants waiting to see Linton Collins, Personnel Officer who does NRA's hiring. After several days of patient waiting and still a considerable distance from Collins' desk, they decided to resort to strategy. They had noticed that NRA employees dash about in their shirt-sleeves, and everyone thus attired passing in and out of Collins' office without challenge. Next morning they parked their flannel outside NRA headquarters, divested themselves of their coats and hats, and went to Collins' office. They walked in without interference, told him about their strategy, were promptly hired.

Tax Publicity

The President has a hidden ace up his sleeve in putting pressure on big gold hoarders, profiteers, and other foes of his recovery program. This is the power to make public income tax returns. Most people have forgotten this, but the last session of Congress voted him such discretionary authority. The Progressives wanted to make publication mandatory, but the Democratic floor leaders balked. The President suggested the compromise, and it was accepted. With the battle lines tightening

(Continued on Page Five)

SCHOOLS STILL WITHOUT HELP, SPONGE READY

Legislature to Conclude Hectic, Unsuccessful Meeting Today

ARGUMENT PREVAIL Aid for Parochial Schools is Defeated

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The legislature tottered on its last legs today—indicating it will throw in the sponge on the school question and adjourn its special session permanently, possibly by tonight. An attempt to revive the $4,000,000 parochial school state-aid bill, which was defeated in the house yesterday during a caustic debate, was planned as one of the last gestures by Catholic members, who admitted their chances were slim. Although sine die adjournment without the levying of new taxes means Ohio's state-aid schools will have to operate many months longer "on faith," not even a quorum could be mustered in the senate for last night's scheduled session.

MEMBERS ABSENT

Apathy was so great in the house that clerks called the roll for 40 minutes before getting enough members to proceed. Old religious battles were kindled anew and Ku Klux Klan charges were hurled against one member during debate, the parochial school state-aid bill, which raged for an hour. With 68 votes required for passage, the measure went down to defeat when the roll-call resulted in a vote of 52 for the bill and 41 against.

In the defeat of the bill the parochial schools lost their battle to obtain a $1,500,000 state subsidy for 1933 and a $2,500,000 grant for 1934. Spokesmen said this amount is needed to keep the (Continued on Page Two)

HEAVY RAIN FALLS

A bountiful rain, measuring .85 of an inch, fell late Tuesday and early Wednesday, according to Dr. H. R. Clarke, local weather observer. Tuesday was the warmest day.

A horse, owned by William Koch, a tenant on the Felix Caldwell farm, Jackson-twp., was killed when struck by lightning Tuesday afternoon.

Shirt-Sleeve Diplomacy

Two young college men from North Carolina seeking government jobs in the Capital, were referred to the NRA. They took up places in the long line of applicants waiting to see Linton Collins, Personnel Officer who does NRA's hiring. After several days of patient waiting and still a considerable distance from Collins' desk, they decided to resort to strategy. They had noticed that NRA employees dash about in their shirt-sleeves, and everyone thus attired passing in and out of Collins' office without challenge. Next morning they parked their flannel outside NRA headquarters, divested themselves of their coats and hats, and went to Collins' office. They walked in without interference, told him about their strategy, were promptly hired.

Tax Publicity

The President has a hidden ace up his sleeve in putting pressure on big gold hoarders, profiteers, and other foes of his recovery program. This is the power to make public income tax returns. Most people have forgotten this, but the last session of Congress voted him such discretionary authority. The Progressives wanted to make publication mandatory, but the Democratic floor leaders balked. The President suggested the compromise, and it was accepted. With the battle lines tightening

(Continued on Page Five)

VIOLATOR OF NRA AWAITS SENTENCE

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20.—First person to be convicted in New Jersey for violation of an NRA code, Jacob Goldfeld, 42, a clothing contractor today awaited sentence.

Judge Ralph Villani found Goldfeld guilty of violating the state NRA enforcement act by failing to pay his workers back wages owed under the code.

LABOR WIELDS STRIKE POWER

Effort To Prevent Workers From Entering Unions In Question.

'OBEY LAW,'—GREEN

Cut In Steel Rail Costs Being Urged.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The industrial horizon was scanned by NRA officials today as organized labor served notice it will use the strike as a weapon if necessary to force compliance with the labor terms of the Recovery Act.

With the National Labor board making strong efforts to settle strikes breaking out in many sections of the country, the question of enforcement of the labor provisions confronted Hugh S. Johnson, Recovery administrator.

The National Labor board, headed by Sen. Robert Wagner of New York, is admittedly without power to force acceptance of its dictates. The Recovery administration, however, may invoke the aid of courts through the justice department.

In presenting evidence, which he said, showed that an effort was being made to prevent workers from entering union ranks, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor demanded adherence to the law.

"We have had to strike to compel obedience to the law and we expect we shall have to do so again," he said.

"Big corporations, if you said, were rushing to form company unions and employees' associations in anticipation of the organization campaign of labor.

Other developments in the NRA included:

Fight continued over the retail code, with indications that a decision by Johnson may be postponed for several days.

Continued On Page Six

WALLACE SEES HIGHER COSTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Higher agricultural prices are due in a few months, perhaps in a few weeks, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace gave his opinion today as he addressed the Grain Dealers' association.

Wallace cautioned price fixers and inflationists to give heed to the long look ahead, and predicted they would have great power next winter in the coming Congress "if the purchasing power of farm products does not improve during the next three months, and there will be passed legislation which will make the Agricultural Adjustment Act seem extraordinarily tame.

The agriculture secretary referred to the present move of American cotton growers and mid-western farmers to have the administration peg prices, and warned against attempts of too rapid economic improvement.

COURT OVERRULES BANKER'S VERDICT

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The state supreme court today reversed two Pickaway-co courts which allowed workmen's compensation funds for a worker who was injured while engaging in "horseplay" with a fellow worker.

The court allowed the request of Attorney General John W. Bricker, counsel for the industrial commission, which asked for an order directing the appellate court to certify its record in the case of Clyde Bankes, employe of the Columbus Railway Power and Light Co.

HOOVERS AT FAIR

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Former President Herbert Hoover today carried out a promise made seven months ago to visit the world's Fair.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, the ex-president arrived here from Paso Alto, Cal., to be greeted at the railroad station by a crowd of 2,000 well-wishers.

JUDGE IN BAILEY TRIAL

Judge Edgar S. Vaughn is shown in this picture as he presided at opening of the trial of Harvey J. Bailey and eleven other defendants for the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, wealthy oil man. The trial opened Monday in the Federal Building at Oklahoma City, Okla.

PERRY-TWP WOMAN WHO TRIED SUICIDE IS ADJUDGED INSANE

Miss Belva Ater, 50, Slashed Throat From Ear To Ear On Sept. 11.

HAS DESIRE TO DIE

Wind-pipe Severed in Suicide Effort.

Declared insane after examination Tuesday evening by Dr. G. D. Sheets of Williamsport and Dr. E. S. Shance, this city, Miss Belva Ater, aged 50, of Perry-twp., will be taken to the State hospital at Athens, Thursday afternoon, by Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff.

Miss Ater, a lifelong resident of Pickaway-co, attempted to suicide at her home on Sept. 11 by slashing her throat with a razor. She gashed her throat from ear to ear, severing the wind-pipe. Miraculously she was saved from death.

According to the report filed with Probate Judge C. C. Young, who committed her to the state hospital, Miss Ater, who has never married, is depressed at times and wants to die. She has thrown an oil lamp to the floor and one time tried to burn the home which she shares with her brother, Hoyt in Perry-twp.

Judge Young attended the hearing to test her sanity.

Miss Ater has four other brothers and a sister.

It was advised by the physicians that she be removed to Athens in an ambulance.

JURY CALLED IN HILL CASE

Special Session of Grand Jury Summoned For Friday By Court.

GIRL IS INVOLVED

Colored Man In Jail Unable To Give Bond.

With a statutory charge concerning a 14-year-old white girl in question, Judge Joseph W. Adkins announced Wednesday that a special session of the September grand jury has been called to reconvene Friday at 9 a. m. to deliberate charges against Burl Hill, Maplewood-ave negro.

Hill is in the county jail unable to give bond after being bound over to the grand jury. He denies the statutory offense which, according to police, has been confessed by the girl.

Three other cases, the nature of which were not disclosed, are also up for investigation. The special session will be conducted by Prosecutor Ray W. Davis.

CORN CUTTER HURT

Kentuckian Falls on Corn Stubble; Taken To Columbus Hospital.

Charles Traylor, of Kentucky, was seriously hurt when he fell on a corn stubble while cutting corn on the farm of Thomas Wright, Jackson-twp., Tuesday afternoon.

He was removed to St. Francis hospital, Columbus, Tuesday evening by the M. S. Rinchart invalid car.

Traylor came to this vicinity this week with his brother and was given employment by Mr. Wright. He was treated by Dr. G. W. Heffner before being removed to the hospital.

COURT NEWS

RECEIVER RELEASED

The final account of Ray W. Davis, receiver in the case of the Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co. against H. M. Crites et al, has been approved and he has been discharged as receiver.

ACTION RESTRAINED

In the case of W. K. Shely against C. C. Young, probate judge, and K. P. Hancock, administrator of the estate of the late Clarence Hancock, Judge J. W. Adkins has issued a restraining order against Judge Young to prevent him from approving the final account in the estate and against Hancock from making distribution of assets now in his hands.

AGED MASONIC MEMBER TAKEN

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—Funeral arrangements were being completed here today for William F. Polley, 76, oldest living past member of Columbus Lodge No. 20, F. & A. M., who died at his home last night.

Polley, who served as an officer of the lodge for 40 years, came to Columbus from Sandusky, O., in 1886.

AUDITOR, DEPUTY AT STATE CONFAB

Clifford M. White and Tom D. Krinn, auditor and deputy auditor, respectively, were in Columbus today attending an auditor's meeting with the Armbruster bill to be discussed.

OHIO COURT UPHOLDS 48-CENT RATE FOR COLUMBUS; COUNCIL MAY AGREE

Application for Re-hearing Denied Columbus Gas & Fuel Co.

TWO OFFERS HERE

Adkins' Ordinance, Company Offer Studied

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The Ohio Supreme court today denied the application of the Columbus Gas & Fuel Co., for a rehearing in the Columbus gas rate case.

The decision of the court to deny the application of the gas company for a rehearing upholds the 48-cent gas rate, previously approved by the court. The gas company had sought to restore a 55-cent rate.

Following announcement of the court's ruling this morning, attorneys for the gas company declared they would carry the case to the United States Supreme court.

Issuance of a mandate, ordering restoration of the 48-cent rate, will be made by the state court.

CONTRARY TO UTILITIES

Charging the 48-cent rate to be confiscatory, the gas company recently started collection of the 55-cent rate despite the court's former order. The gas company based its action on a ruling by the utilities commission last fall which established the 55-cent figure.

Today's decision by the state court marked the second time the court has disapproved the utilities commission finding in the Columbus case. In the original order, the court flatly overruled the commission's 55-cent rate.

City council meets this evening but whether or not it will take any action on one of two gas propositions now before it is uncertain.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., several weeks ago, offered a five-year contract upon which council has not yet taken formal action.

An ordinance, presented by Paul E. Adkins, city solicitor, last November, has been read twice and will be subject to a vote after a third reading. The ordinance was given its second reading quite a while ago.

RATES ARE DIFFERENT

Adkins' ordinance calls for a 43-cent net rate while that of the gas company offers a lower rate than the 63 cents now paid for the first four years of the contract but a higher rate for the fifth year.

The local gas company is now operating under a franchise which has been extinct for over two years.

What other questions might be brought up at the council meeting are not known.

Myers' Appeal Denied

Court Rules That Secretary of State Can't Force Referendum.

WRIT IS PREPARED

All Judges Concur in Final Decision.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The Ohio Supreme court today ruled in effect that Secretary of State George Myers can not force a referendum on the McNamee laws, creating a state highway patrol and providing for the transfer of the bureau of motor vehicles from the offices of the secretary of state to the state highway department.

The ruling of the court was handed down in the case of Paul J. Patton of Cincinnati, who sought to prohibit the secretary of state from placing the McNamee laws on the ballot for the November 7 election. The ruling sustained a previous action by the court in establishing a temporary restraining order against Myers.

WRIT PLANNED

A permanent writ, preventing the secretary of state from placing the laws on the ballot for the November election will be issued by the court as a result of the ruling today.

"The court adheres to its form-

Continued On Page Two

COMMISSIONERS ASK DEPOSITORY BIDS

The Pickaway-co commissioners will receive bids until noon Oct. 16 for county depositories. Bids will be received from any banks or trust companies.

The length of time will be for three years from Oct. 20.

WALLACE SEES HIGHER COSTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Higher agricultural prices are due in a few months, perhaps in a few weeks, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace gave his opinion today as he addressed the Grain Dealers' association.

Wallace cautioned price fixers and inflationists to give heed to the long look ahead, and predicted they would have great power next winter in the coming Congress "if the purchasing power of farm products does not improve during the next three months, and there will be passed legislation which will make the Agricultural Adjustment Act seem extraordinarily tame.

The agriculture secretary referred to the present move of American cotton growers and mid-western farmers to have the administration peg prices, and warned against attempts of too rapid economic improvement.

COURT OVERRULES BANKER'S VERDICT

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The state supreme court today reversed two Pickaway-co courts which allowed workmen's compensation funds for a worker who was injured while engaging in "horseplay" with a fellow worker.

The court allowed the request of Attorney General John W. Bricker, counsel for the industrial commission, which asked for an order directing the appellate court to certify its record in the case of Clyde Bankes, employe of the Columbus Railway Power and Light Co.

HOOVERS AT FAIR

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Former President Herbert Hoover today carried out a promise made seven months ago to visit the world's Fair.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, the ex-president arrived here from Paso Alto, Cal., to be greeted at the railroad station by a crowd of 2,000 well-wishers.

AUDITOR, DEPUTY AT STATE CONFAB

Clifford M. White and Tom D. Krinn, auditor and deputy auditor, respectively, were in Columbus today attending an auditor's meeting with the Armbruster bill to be discussed.

OHIO COURT UPHOLDS 48-CENT RATE FOR COLUMBUS; COUNCIL MAY AGREE

Application for Re-hearing Denied Columbus Gas & Fuel Co.

TWO OFFERS HERE

Adkins' Ordinance, Company Offer Studied

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The Ohio Supreme court today denied the application of the Columbus Gas & Fuel Co., for a rehearing in the Columbus gas rate case.

The decision of the court to deny the application of the gas company for a rehearing upholds the 48-cent gas rate, previously approved by the court. The gas company had sought to restore a 55-cent rate.

Following announcement of the court's ruling this morning, attorneys for the gas company declared they would carry the case to the United States Supreme court.

Issuance of a mandate, ordering restoration of the 48-cent rate, will be made by the state court.

CONTRARY TO UTILITIES

Charging the 48-cent rate to be confiscatory, the gas company recently started collection of the 55-cent rate despite the court's former order. The gas company based its action on a ruling by the utilities commission last fall which established the 55-cent figure.

Today's decision by the state court marked the second time the court has disapproved the utilities commission finding in the Columbus case. In the original order, the court flatly overruled the commission's 55-cent rate.

City council meets this evening but whether or not it will take any action on one of two gas propositions now before it is uncertain.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., several weeks ago, offered a five-year contract upon which council has not yet taken formal action.

An ordinance, presented by Paul E. Adkins, city solicitor, last November, has been read twice and will be subject to a vote after a third reading. The ordinance was given its second reading quite a while ago.

RATES ARE DIFFERENT

Adkins' ordinance calls for a 43-cent net rate while that of the gas company offers a lower rate than the 63 cents now paid for the first four years of the contract but a higher rate for the fifth year.

The local gas company is now operating under a franchise which has been extinct for over two years.

What other questions might be brought up at the council meeting are not known.

Myers' Appeal Denied

Court Rules That Secretary of State Can't Force Referendum.

WRIT IS PREPARED

All Judges Concur in Final Decision.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The Ohio Supreme court today ruled in effect that Secretary of State George Myers can not force a referendum on the McNamee laws, creating a state highway patrol and providing for the transfer of the bureau of motor vehicles from the offices of the secretary of state to the state highway department.

The ruling of the court was handed down in the case of Paul J. Patton of Cincinnati, who sought to prohibit the secretary of state from placing the McNamee laws on the ballot for the November 7 election. The ruling sustained a previous action by the court in establishing a temporary restraining order against Myers.

WRIT PLANNED

A permanent writ, preventing the secretary of state from placing the laws on the ballot for the November election will be issued by the court as a result of the ruling today.

"The court adheres to its form-

Continued On Page Two

COMMISSIONERS ASK DEPOSITORY BIDS

The Pickaway-co commissioners will receive bids until noon Oct. 16 for county depositories. Bids will be received from any banks or trust companies.

The length of time will be for three years from Oct. 20.

WALLACE SEES HIGHER COSTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Higher agricultural prices are due in a few months, perhaps in a few weeks, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace gave his opinion today as he addressed the Grain Dealers' association.

Wallace cautioned price fixers and inflationists to give heed to the long look ahead, and predicted they would have great power next winter in the coming Congress "if the purchasing power of farm products does not improve during the next three months, and there will be passed legislation which will make the Agricultural Adjustment Act seem extraordinarily tame.

The agriculture secretary referred to the present move of American cotton growers and mid-western farmers to have the administration peg prices, and warned against attempts of too rapid economic improvement.

COURT OVERRULES BANKER'S VERDICT

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The state supreme court today reversed two Pickaway-co courts which allowed workmen's compensation funds for a worker who was injured while engaging in "horseplay" with a fellow worker.

The court allowed the request of Attorney General John W. Bricker, counsel for the industrial commission, which asked for an order directing the appellate court to certify its record in the case of Clyde Bankes, employe of the Columbus Railway Power and Light Co.

HOOVERS AT FAIR

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Former President Herbert Hoover today carried out a promise made seven months ago to visit the world's Fair.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, the ex-president arrived here from Paso Alto, Cal., to be greeted at the railroad station by a crowd of 2,000 well-wishers.

AUDITOR, DEPUTY AT STATE CONFAB

Clifford M. White and Tom D. Krinn, auditor and deputy auditor, respectively, were in Columbus today attending an auditor's meeting with the Armbruster bill to be discussed.

OHIO COURT UPHOLDS 48-CENT RATE FOR COLUMBUS; COUNCIL MAY AGREE

Application for Re-hearing Denied Columbus Gas & Fuel Co.

TWO OFFERS HERE

Adkins' Ordinance, Company Offer Studied

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The Ohio Supreme court today denied the application of the Columbus Gas & Fuel Co., for a rehearing in the Columbus gas rate case.

The decision of the court to deny the application of the gas company for a rehearing upholds the 48-cent gas rate, previously approved by the court. The gas company had sought to restore a 55-cent rate.

Following announcement of the court's ruling this morning, attorneys for the gas company declared they would carry the case to the United States Supreme court.

Issuance of a mandate, ordering restoration of the 48-cent rate, will be made by the state court.

CONTRARY TO UTILITIES

Charging the 48-cent rate to be confiscatory, the gas company recently started collection of the 55-cent rate despite the court's former order. The gas company based its action on a ruling by the utilities commission last fall which established the 55-cent figure.

Today's decision by the state court marked the second time the court has disapproved the utilities commission finding in the Columbus case. In the original order, the court flatly overruled the commission's 55-cent rate.

City council meets this evening but whether or not it will take any action on one of two gas propositions now before it is uncertain.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., several weeks ago, offered a five-year contract upon which council has not yet taken formal action.

An ordinance, presented by Paul E. Adkins, city solicitor, last November, has been read twice and will be subject to a vote after a third reading. The ordinance was given its second reading quite a while ago.

RATES ARE DIFFERENT

Adkins' ordinance calls for a 43-cent net rate while that of the gas company offers a lower rate than the 63 cents now paid for the first four years of the contract but a higher rate for the fifth year.

The local gas company is now operating under a franchise which has been extinct for over two years.

What other questions might be brought up at the council meeting are not known.

Myers' Appeal Denied

Court Rules That Secretary of State Can't Force Referendum.

WRIT IS PREPARED

All Judges Concur in Final Decision.

COMMISSIONERS ASK DEPOSITORY BIDS

The Pickaway-co commissioners will receive bids until noon Oct. 16 for county depositories. Bids will be received from any banks or trust companies.

The length of time will be for three years from Oct. 20.

WALLACE SEES HIGHER COSTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Higher agricultural prices are due in a few months, perhaps in a few weeks, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace gave his opinion today as he addressed the Grain Dealers' association.

Wallace cautioned price fixers and inflationists to give heed to the long look ahead, and predicted they would have great power next winter in the coming Congress "if the purchasing power of farm products does not improve during the next three months, and there will be passed legislation which will make the Agricultural Adjustment Act seem extraordinarily tame.

The agriculture secretary referred to the present move of American cotton growers and mid-western farmers to have the administration peg prices, and warned against attempts of too rapid economic improvement.

COURT OVERRULES BANKER'S VERDICT

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The state supreme court today reversed two Pickaway-co courts which allowed workmen's compensation funds for a worker who was injured while engaging in "horseplay" with a fellow worker.

The court allowed the request of Attorney General John W. Bricker, counsel for the industrial commission, which asked for an order directing the appellate court to certify its record in the case of Clyde Bankes, employe of the Columbus Railway Power and Light Co.

HOOVERS AT FAIR

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Former President Herbert Hoover today carried out a promise made seven months ago to visit the world's Fair.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, the ex-president arrived here from Paso Alto, Cal., to be greeted at the railroad station by a crowd of 2,000 well-wishers.

AUDITOR, DEPUTY AT STATE CONFAB

Clifford M. White and Tom D. Krinn, auditor and deputy auditor, respectively, were in Columbus today attending an auditor's meeting with the Armbruster bill to be discussed.

OHIO COURT UPHOLDS 48-CENT RATE FOR COLUMBUS; COUNCIL MAY AGREE

Application for Re-hearing Denied Columbus Gas & Fuel Co.

TWO OFFERS HERE

Adkins' Ordinance, Company Offer Studied

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The Ohio Supreme court today denied the application of the Columbus Gas & Fuel Co., for a rehearing in the Columbus gas rate case.

The decision of the court to deny the application of the gas company for a rehearing upholds the 48-cent gas rate, previously approved by the court. The gas company had sought to restore a 55-cent rate.

Following announcement of the court's ruling this morning, attorneys for the gas company declared they would carry the case to the United States Supreme court.

Issuance of a mandate, ordering restoration of the 48-cent rate, will be made by the state court.

CONTRARY TO UTILITIES

Charging the 48-cent rate to be confiscatory, the gas company recently started collection of the 55-cent rate despite the court's former order. The gas company based its action on a ruling by the utilities commission last fall which established the 55-cent figure.

Today's decision by the state court marked the second time the court has disapproved the utilities commission finding in the Columbus case. In the original order, the court flatly overruled the commission's 55-cent rate.

City council meets this evening but whether or not it will take any action on one of two gas propositions now before it is uncertain.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., several weeks ago, offered a five-year contract upon which council has not yet taken formal action.

An ordinance, presented by Paul E. Adkins, city solicitor, last November, has been read twice and will be subject to a vote after a third reading. The ordinance was given its second reading quite a while ago.

RATES ARE DIFFERENT

Adkins' ordinance calls for a 43-cent net rate while that of the gas company offers a lower rate than the 63 cents now paid for the first four years of the contract but a higher rate for the fifth year.

The local gas company is now operating under a franchise which has been extinct for over two years.

What other questions might be brought up at the council meeting are not known.

COMMISSIONERS ASK DEPOSITORY BIDS

The Pickaway-co commissioners will receive bids until noon Oct. 16 for county depositories. Bids will be received from any banks or trust companies.

The length of time will be for three years from Oct. 20.

WALLACE SEES HIGHER COSTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Higher agricultural prices are due in a few months, perhaps in a few weeks, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace gave his opinion today as he addressed the Grain Dealers' association.

Wallace cautioned price fixers and inflationists to give heed to the long look ahead, and predicted they would have great power next winter in the coming Congress "if the purchasing power of farm products does not improve during the next three months, and there will be passed legislation which will make the Agricultural Adjustment Act seem extraordinarily tame.

The agriculture secretary referred to the present move of American cotton growers and mid-western farmers to have the administration peg prices, and warned against attempts of too rapid economic improvement.

COURT OVERRULES BANKER'S VERDICT

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The state supreme court today reversed two Pickaway-co courts which allowed workmen's compensation funds for a worker who was injured while engaging in "horseplay" with a fellow worker.

The court allowed the request of Attorney General John W. Bricker, counsel for the industrial commission, which asked for an order directing the appellate court to certify its record in the case of Clyde Bankes, employe of the Columbus Railway Power and Light Co.

HOOVERS AT FAIR

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Former President Herbert Hoover today carried out a promise made seven months ago to visit the world's Fair.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hoover, the ex-president arrived here from Paso Alto, Cal., to be greeted at the railroad station by a crowd of 2,000 well-wishers.

AUDITOR, DEPUTY AT STATE CONFAB

Clifford M. White and Tom D. Krinn, auditor and deputy auditor, respectively, were in Columbus today attending an auditor's meeting with the Armbruster bill to be discussed.

OHIO COURT UPHOLDS 48-CENT RATE FOR COLUMBUS; COUNCIL MAY AGREE

Application for Re-hearing Denied Columbus Gas & Fuel Co.

TWO OFFERS HERE

Adkins' Ordinance, Company Offer Studied

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The Ohio Supreme court today denied the application of the Columbus Gas & Fuel Co., for a rehearing in the Columbus gas rate case.

The decision of the court to deny the application of the gas company for a rehearing upholds the 48-cent gas rate, previously approved by the court. The gas company had sought to restore a 55-cent rate.

Following announcement of the court's ruling this morning, attorneys for the gas company declared they would carry the case to the United States Supreme court.

Issuance of a mandate, ordering restoration of the 48-cent rate, will be made by the state court.

CONTRARY TO UTILITIES

Charging the 48-cent rate to be confiscatory, the gas company recently started collection of the 55-cent rate despite the court's former order. The gas company based its action on a ruling by the utilities commission last fall which established the 55-cent figure.

Today's decision by the state court marked the second time the court has disapproved the utilities commission finding in the Columbus case. In the original order, the court flatly overruled the commission's 55-cent rate.

City council meets this evening but whether or not it will take any action on one of two gas propositions now before it is uncertain.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., several weeks ago, offered a five-year contract upon which council has not yet taken formal action.

An ordinance, presented by Paul E. Adkins, city solicitor, last November, has been read twice and will be subject to a vote after a third reading. The ordinance was given its second reading quite a while ago.

RATES ARE DIFFERENT

Adkins' ordinance calls for a 43-cent net rate while that of the gas company offers a lower rate than the 63 cents now paid for the first four years of the contract but a higher rate for the fifth year.

The local gas company is now operating under a franchise which has been extinct for over two years.

What other questions might be brought up at the council meeting are not known.

Myers' Appeal Denied

Court Rules That Secretary of State Can't Force Referendum.

WRIT IS PREPARED

All Judges Concur in Final Decision.

COMMISSIONERS ASK DEPOSITORY BIDS

The Pickaway-co commissioners will receive bids until noon Oct. 16 for county depositories. Bids will be received from any banks or trust companies.

The length of time will be for three years from Oct. 20.

WALLACE SEES HIGHER COSTS

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Higher agricultural prices are due in a few months, perhaps in a few weeks, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace gave his opinion today as he addressed the Grain Dealers' association.

Wallace cautioned price fixers and inflationists to give heed to the long look ahead, and predicted they would have great power next winter in the coming Congress "if the purchasing power of farm products does not improve during the next three months, and there will be passed legislation which will make the Agricultural Adjustment Act seem extraordinarily tame.

The agriculture secretary referred to the present move of American cotton growers and mid-western farmers to have the administration peg prices, and warned against attempts of too rapid economic improvement.

COURT OVERRULES BANKER'S VERDICT

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—The state supreme court today reversed two Pickaway-co courts which allowed workmen's compensation funds for a worker who was injured while engaging in "horseplay" with a fellow worker.

The court allowed the request of Attorney General John W. Bricker, counsel for the industrial commission, which asked for an order directing the appellate court to certify its record in the case of Clyde Bankes, employe

RED HERO AS RED BIRDS ANNEX TITLE

Hander Halts Minneapolis Rally Then Delivers Home Run With Two Bases on Base in Tenth Inning; Score 14-11 in Game Requiring Nearly Three Hours; Many Home Runs Feature Sixth Series Game.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—Chucky Judd was the unofficial hero of this city today. Coming in the first half of the tenth inning with two men perched on bases, two out and the ball game tied up, Judd smacked one of pitcher Harry Holsclaw's pitches into Nicollet-ave to win the ball game.

He blanked the Minneapolis Millers in their half of the tenth and the Red Birds were champions of the American Association. They had won the regular season's schedule by a margin of 15 1-2 games but under a new rule were forced to play the winner of the western half of the league which was Minneapolis. Columbus won the first game of the series, lost the second, won the third and lost the fourth. The team then won the fifth and sixth and will now meet the International League champion, either Rochester or Buffalo, for the Little World Series title.

The score of the Tuesday's game was 14-11.

Judd's four-base clout was not the only great feat he turned in. Relieving Lefty Heise after the young southpaw had fanned Hauser and intentionally walked Spencer Harris to fill the bases and make a play at every base with Holland at bat, Judd forced Holland to ground to Riggs whose throw to the plate forced Cohen. Ganzel then grounded to Whitehead and was out at first. This all happened in the last half of the ninth.

PUT ON BRAKES

Things looked very dark for the Birds in this frame when Cohen singled and Ruble walked with Paul Dean on the mound. Hauser strode to the plate and Blades placed Heise in the box. Hauser swung three times and missed. Then came Harris. He was walked and Judd entered the picture. The count was three balls and one strike on Holland and it looked like a base on balls might end the ball game, but chunky Ralph tossed the agate over the rubber just often enough.

Again home runs played a big part in the ball game. Cullup hit a pair, Delancy smacked one, Heath connected and so did Riggs. The latter home run meant everything to the Red Bird cause. Holsclaw was on the hill with two men out and no one on base in the Red Bird half of the ninth. Minneapolis was leading by one run by virtue of home runs off the bats of Hauser and Harris. The count was three balls and no strikes on Riggs with Cullup waiting to come up. With this thought apparently in mind, Holsclaw tried to slip a strike through the Red Bird third sacker and over the right field fence it soared.

The Birds then went on to win as a result of Judd's enacting the hero role.

With a high wind sweeping the ball field, Benny Borgman, Bird short fielder, had a tough time and committed three errors. One of the errors was on a pop fly, a second occurred when Hauser sliding into second base kicked Borgman's feet from under him thus a wild heave to first base and the third came on a slow roller in the infield.

The Red Birds obtained 18 hits and Minneapolis had 14. The winners used Winford, Dean, Heise and Judd on the mound and the losers had Murray, Hilcher, Tauscher, Petty and Holsclaw. Hi Vandenberg was the only eligible man Manager Bancroft did not send to the mound and he saw bullpen duty. Kingdon was the only eligible player besides Vandenberg who did not see service. Griffin, catcher and assistant manager, fanning for the last out of the game.

A royal welcome is planned this evening when the Birds arrive at the Union depot, Columbus, at 6:20 p. m.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

THOSE individuals who are always ready to cry about something being fixed, especially in reference to athletic events, can be scoffed at—and plenty—as a result of the Columbus-Minneapolis series. Any person who witnessed a single game of the series would bet his last penny that nothing of a crooked nature was exhibited at any time in the series.

One of the first real examples of the competition in the series was seen in the first night game in Columbus when the Birds won by one run on Ray Blades' blow to center field. A second incident was in the extra inning game the Birds won Monday when Delancy hit a home run for Paul Dean to win the fray. The third example was easily seen in the final game of the series when the Millers went ahead then behind and then ahead again only to lose out in the end.

Those so-called fans who cry "fixed, fixed, fixed" everything a ball club plays another with anything at stake are mighty good subjects for the "booby-hatch."

With the baseball season entering its final phase, the worst season in its history is behind the mighty Babe Ruth, sultan of wat. The New York Yankee star who has been on the bench with various afflictions during the year now has an injured knee.

He is hopeful of pitching a game against the Boston Red Sox in a few days. It was in that city that he made his start toward world-unknown.

Bowling News

Asa Elsea's Transfer five defeated the Herdman-Leasures in three straight games in the city duck-pin league, Tuesday evening. Sterling Lamb and Capt. Elsea led the bowlers.

The scores:
ELSEA'S—1753.
Elsea 150 110 108—368
Noble 97 103 140—340
Lamb 102 158 119—379
Renick 80 109 110—299
Deming 97 122 118—337
Total 546 602 595

HERDMAN-LEAURES—1539

Baker 104 114 103—321
White 88 118 121—327
Warner 91 110 103—304
S. Leasure 83 97 112—294
L. Leasure 96 91 116—303
Total 472 532 535

The City Five, downed Chillicothe in an interesting ten-pin match here Tuesday evening by a margin of 118 pins. The local led throughout with Bill Packard's 565 leading the parade.

CITY FIVE—2431

Riggin 176 159 162—497
Sensen 137 158 148—443
Lynch 137 150 145—432
Moyer 169 166 159—494
Packard 160 206 198—565
Total 779 839 812

CHILLICOTHE—2313

Blakeman 165 141 183—489
Hamilton 148 148 186—482
Ewart 149 132 118—399
Wolcott 159 180 146—485
Bowers 128 160 169—457
Total 750 761 802

The Long Look Ahead

A Johns Hopkins scientist says there is no means of telling just which way evolution is going to proceed in the future, but that the most probable development will be a race of supermen with feelings and ideas totally different from those possessed today.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a more movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't look for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the wrapper. It's a sure sign. 50c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Champion Hubby Welcomed

George T. Dunlap, of New York, newly-crowned national amateur golf champion, is greeted by his wife on his return home from Cincinnati, O., the scene of his triumph. In insert, Dunlap is pictured with the magnificent trophy emblematic of his title.

Spartans Work to Halt Newman

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 20.—The Portsmouth Spartans were back on the practice field today in preparation for their encounter with the New York Giants next Sunday at Universal Stadium. Following their victory over the Cincinnati Reds Sunday by a score of 21-0, Coach Clark gave his squad a rest on Monday from practice but took them on the golf course for an eighteen hole workout.

The entire squad came through last Sunday's game in good shape with the exception of Christensen, the big tackle from Oregon U-who had a slightly sprained back. He is under treatment by Doc Neff, Spartan trainer, and will undoubtedly be able to fill the right tackle position for the Giant encounter. Coach Clark is grooming Bowdoin from Alabama for this position should Christensen fail to be in shape to play.

As expected, the veterans all performed like they knew what it was all about. Several of the new recruits however showed up even better than expected. Caddell of

Daily Drama

By International News Service.

The hero—Jimmy Fox, Athletics. Cracked homer No. 46 to give the A's a 5 to 2 success over Detroit's Tigers.

The goat—Hal Smith, Pirates. Weakened in eighth, giving the Phillies four hits, which won 3 to 2, the defeat ending Pittsburgh's bid for the 1933 National league and sending in the Giants as champions.

Red Wings Lead

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Buffalo and Rochester battle tonight in the fourth game of the International baseball league play-off series for the right to meet Columbus, American Association champions, in the little world's series.

Rochester has won two of the three games played, the Red Wings defeating the Eisacs in Rochester yesterday, 6 to 3, with home runs by Estel Crabtree and Ray Pepper and some fine relief hurling by Jim Lindsey.

In Miami Beach it's

The Fleetwood

Opening for the Winter Season

January first. European Plan.

An Exclusive Winter Resort Hotel, on Biscayne Bay, with Ocean Bathing, a Private Dock and every facility for the comfort and entertainment of its exclusive and discriminating clientele.

Rates Double from $8.00 to $20.00 per day. A la carte service and Fixed Price Meals.

Other DeWitt Operated Hotels include:

In Cleveland is

The HOLLANDEN

In Chicago is

THE LASALLE

In Columbus is

THE NEIL HOUSE

In Akron is

THE MAYFLOWER

•

FENWAY HALL,

Cleveland's High Class

Residential Hotel, is also under

DeWitt Management.

ESPINOSA WINS OHIO OPEN CROWN

AKRON, Sept. 20.—Al Espinosa, Akron pro, today had retained his kinship over the professional and amateur golfers of the state by finishing five strokes ahead of the field in the Ohio Open golf tournament at the Portage Country club here, Espinosa's home links.

His final score of 277, composed of rounds of 66-70-71-70, was seven strokes under par for the course and his last 70 was a triumph over the elements as a steady rain fell throughout the last nine holes of play.

Espinosa, the defending champ, had 16 birdies in the 72 holes, 48 pars, seven holes one over par and once took two extra strokes to reach the green. The feature of his play was his brilliant iron shot, and putting. His driving appeared wobbly and he often was in the rough but he always recovered by his iron or putter play.

DRY LAW END

Continued From Page One

eight which vote up to and including Nov. 7.

Virginia, Oct. 3; Florida, Oct. 10; Kentucky, South Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Utah and North Carolina, all on Nov. 7. The convention dates for these states range from Virginia on Oct. 23 to North Carolina on Dec. 6.

In Louisiana and Kansas there are prospects of special sessions of the legislature before the year is out.

States where there is not much prospect of any action this year are: Montana, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Nebraska, Mississippi, Georgia, and North Dakota.

Repeal has moved so rapidly that it is likely the effective date for the death of the 18th amendment will catch a good many states unprepared for what is to follow.

To date only nine states have completed liquor control laws and regulations which go into effect immediately upon the expiration of the amendment. These are: Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Montana, New York, Nevada, and Rhode Island.

MYERS'

Continued From Page One

er judgment," it said in a formal opinion disposing of the Myers referendum fight. All judges but Howard L. Boyd, former finance director, who did not participate, concurred in the opinion.

Myers' proposed referendum shall not be held, the opinion said, because "Under Article two, section 16 of the Ohio constitution a single referendum may not be filed attacking two or more separate and distinct laws passed by the general assembly."

Myers proposed to hold a single referendum on both laws.

The decision was made final by ruling on minor points in the controversy. The court overruled the request of petitioners who asked to be made parties defendant to the suit and upheld Patton's demurrer to an answer filed by the secretary of state. On all points the court re-affirmed its previous stand.

OHIO RED CROSS

Continued From Page One

consider service programs for next year.

Everett Dix, assistant manager of the Eastern area, is coming from national headquarters to present to the conference an outline of Red Cross financial needs in community and Nation. An inspirational address will be delivered by H. J. Hughes, legal adviser of the National organization. Another speaker from Washington will be Miss Mary Conannon, assistant to the director of the Junior Red Cross.

Among those who will participate prominently are John A. Poland, chairman, Ross-co chapter; Charles C. Dhouan, chairman of the home service committee, Cincinnati; and Hamilton-co chapter; Ralph F. Rogan, chairman of the host chapter; the Reverend James Thomas, pastor, Hyde Park Community Church, Cincinnati; Hugh L. Nichols, chairman, Clermont-co chapter; Mrs. Ells Layne Brown, executive director, host chapter; and Ashbury Cecil, Red Cross liaison representative, United States Veterans Bureau.

September 25 has been set as the deadline for farmers to sign wheat reduction applications.

SCHOOLS STILL

Continued From Page One

schools open.

Revival of their fight was planned through the offering of an amendment to the Gunsett "school foundation" bill, which was on today's house calendar. The amendment, being similar to the bill, was in danger of being ruled out of order.

Charge that "the grand league of the Ku Klux Klan" conferred at the statehouse with Rep. R. A. Pollock (R) of Canton, leader of opposition to the bill, were made during the debate by Rep. Hugh Addison (D), of Columbus.

POLLOCK IS CENTER

Denying this, Pollock declared he "is not, never has been and never expects to be a member of the Klan."

The Democratic leadership threw its support behind the bill, with floor leader Keith Lawrence, of Cleveland, promising that Governor George White would sign the measure, providing it were passed. Opponents cited various attorney general's opinions, holding state aid to private schools to be unconstitutional, as their reason for refusing to approve the bill.

A proposed "dictatorship" over small high schools for the department of education was to come under fire in consideration of the Gunsett bill today. House members said they would demand an amendment refusing to allow the state director of education to close down high schools of 90 pupils or under as provided by the bill.

Although promising to set up a standard of $33 per year for elementary pupils and $66 for high school pupils, the Gunsett measure was expected to be rendered ineffective for some time, if passed, due to failure to provide new tax funds.

Governor White has threatened to veto the bill if it bears an amendment giving $3,000,000 for the rest of the year to state-aided schools. Accordingly, this was expected to be eliminated.

Democratic Floor Leader Paul Leder of Dayton, Republican Floor Leader Earl Lewis of St. Clairsville and Senator Daniel J. Gunsett (D) of Van Wert, chairman of the special taxation committee, were among the 18 absentees in the senate last night. Other members seemed to be falling in line with the desire to adjourn.

WE DO OUR PART

The PRESIDENT Is Taking Your Order for PROSPERITY...

HE will deliver the goods if you will respond to the fine example of salesmanship that he has exhibited and the service that he is ready to render to all America.

He asks for cooperation. He asks for the spirit of "give and take." He offers a plan under which men can earn more, employ more and pay more to increase consumer buying power.

Normal buying power in America always has meant good business, contented homes and living conditions on a higher plane than any other nation in the world.

Operating under the NRA we have added three men to our payroll. We are glad to have this opportunity to cooperate with the President to bring back prosperity. When you buy bread from your grocer you can cooperate with us and our employees by asking for Wallace's Bread. When you do this we will be able to continue to "DO OUR PART" in the program set down by the President.

ED. WALLACE BAKERY

127 W. Main St.

MODERN NURSERY RIMES

There was an old woman who lived in a shoe,
She had so many children she didn't know what to do;
'Til she advertised the want-ad way,
And got a maid without delay.

Phone 782.

THE HERALD

Pickaway County's Daily Newspaper.

NATIVE HERE TELLS OF TROPICAL VISIT

BY ETHEL JANE STEELE

Leaving Havana, Cuba, on August 15, I traveled by automobile to Batabano, where I boarded a boat for the Isle of Pines, across the Caribbean Sea. After having spent weeks in the midst of howling mobs, it seemed like a haven of rest.

On this island I found beautiful hills covered with royal palms with grass houses nestled among them, which makes it from the standpoint of scenic beauty one of the most picturesque places I have ever seen. It is hard to believe that within 100 miles of America one could find a place where the superstitions of the dark ages still exist, and where people board up their houses at night to keep out the witches, yet, these conditions exist on this island.

We have heard much in America about "nudist colonies" being formed, but when I reached the Isle of Pines, I had my first shock from seeing people who were real nudist and thought nothing whatever about it. On Sunday morning I went out in the country to Sunday school, where none of the children under 12 or 13 wore any clothing, and the grown ups wore very little, but they seemed to take it all for granted and to be so entirely natural that you soon got over the shock and accepted it as another strange custom.

MAHOGANY USED

One of the unique things one sees on this island is all the houses, however small a shack it may be, are trimmed with solid mahogany, which is just as cheap as pine in America.

Most of the industry on this island is owned by American capital, and there is quite a large colony of Americans there. They have American teachers in some of the schools and English is fast becoming the national language. The Isle of Pines is a part of the Cuban government, and many of them claim to be a part of the United States. Through all the turmoil and strife in Cuba, this island was very quiet and conditions were practically normal there.

After spending only two days on this trip I received word to come back to Havana, as one of my clients there was in some serious trouble. Through the courtesy of some friends I made the return trip by airplane.

When I arrived in Havana the storm warnings were up and I decided that just as soon as I could arrange with another attorney to take over the work I would return to the States.

STORM TERRIFIC

When the storm struck Cuba it seemed that the forces of Heaven and earth vied for first place in wreaking death and destruction to the Island Republic. The winds and rain washed clean the streets of human blood caused by the forces of man, the avenging mobs who sought to meet out justice according to their own ideas after the overthrow of the Machado government, but left in its place scores of dead bodies and a 100,000 homeless people. It is strange how people turn to the Bible in times of distress. If I heard this favorite Biblical quotation once I heard it a thousand times by both those who were religiously inclined and those who were not. "Vengeance is mine, I will repay." Whether God had anything to do with the storm or not, it can only be hoped that both the forces of nature and man will cease their battle of death and destruction.

The whole situation in Cuba can be summed up in a few words. It is hard to reason with people who are facing stark starvation as these people are. One look in the faces of some of the people you meet on the streets of any city in Cuba will convince you that only two things will settle the situation there. "One is bread and the other bullets."

FLED ELEMENTS

I had hoped that after all the horrible experiences, I had endured in Cuba that I would have a few days of peace and quiet when I reached the States, but fate had decreed different as I reached scarcely a fortnight before the storm warnings were posted here.

We left Tampa last Friday for a little yachting trip to get away from the crowds over Labor Day, but received the warning, and came ashore, near Sarasota on the west coast. While this is one of the worst storms Florida has had since the disasters of 1928, yet the warnings were received in time that all the people sought refuge in storm proof buildings and there was no loss of lives here, although a large dam broke at Sulphur Springs just five miles north of Tampa and the whole town is still submerged in from five to 15 feet of water. An 80 mile gale which struck this section of the state late Monday caused much damage to the citrus

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

YOU know Idaho potatoes. I reckon on Jim Holl invented Idaho potatoes, but I ain't so sure but what it was a Higher Power even than Jim that done it.

Well, Idaho potatoes are big, besides being good to eat. I heard about a farmer from Connecticut that went out to Idaho to live. He went there because he was told by the real estate man all about the big potatoes and the chances there is in Idaho for a farmer.

This Connecticut man came to his real estate agent with a long face at the end of the first year.

"I wish you'd sell my farm for me," he says.

"Sure. But I'm surprised. Wasn't crops good this year?"

"Yes, I reckon the crops was all right."

"Didn't you have potatoes twice as big as any you ever seen before?"

"Yes. But I come out here to farm."

"Well, what about it?"

"Where in thunderation do you reckon I'm going to get the little potatoes to feed to the pigs? Import 'em?"

American News Features, Inc.

crops as well and the early vegetables, and it does not look at this time like the NRA will have to intervene here to control the production of crops.

I am hoping that I may be able to make a trip home within the next few days, after which I will go to Nassau and the Bahamas, about October 15.

Epidemic Among Animals

Epizootics are diseases affecting animals on a scale comparable to that of epidemics among humans. Even in the wild such maladies exist. It has been proved, in spite of contrary opinions held by many veteran woodsmen.

Trio in Mystery Slaying

Rev. J. F. Eddy, 50-year-old pastor of the Church of God, at Grace Fork, near Ripley, W. Va., and his wife, whose battered and bullet-riddled bodies provided a mystery for police to solve. In insert is Ralph Eddy, 15-year-old son of the pastor by his first wife, who is sought in hopes he may be able to throw some light upon the mystery.

TALE WAS TOO OLD

DENVER—"Four fellows in an automobile held me up on the corner, beat me, and took $100 away from me," Alex Langren explained in police court. "I wanted to call the police, but I smashed the fire alarm glass, instead." Magistrate A. H. Pickens complimented Langren on the originality of his story and fined him $15 for turning in a false alarm.

Help Yourself to Savings with WANT ADS

NO MONEY Is No Excuse!

SUPPOSE dollars are scarce. Is that a valid reason for letting human beings die from tuberculosis when they might otherwise have been cured? Is that cause enough to permit thousands of people to be exposed to the dreaded germs from sufferers who should be segregated and undergoing proper care and treatment?

The fearful White Plague does not wait for empty exchequers to be replenished. Tuberculosis takes no holiday.

Funds seem always available for fighting disease in hogs, sheep and cattle. Money turns up to further hundreds of pet enterprises. The way must be found to prevent the spread of tuberculosis. No job is bigger, no cause is worthier.

"Get Well in Ohio"

NOTHING should be permitted to stop the fight against tuberculosis. Every locality should make adequate provision for the care of needy tuberculosis patients for the safety and protection of all. Write for free copy of "Blacking Out the White Plague."

Published in the interest of tuberculosis treatment by the Rocky Glen Sanatorium, McConnelsville, Ohio, the oldest private tuberculosis sanatorium in Ohio.

YOUR DOCTOR KNOWS

TUBERCULOSIS PREVENTED
SARTON
MORE THAN IT CURED

DON'T FORGET TO PHONE THAT WANT-AD

YOU'll want an ad in the Herald Classified Section. Better phone it NOW while you're thinking about it.

PHONE 782

A Value Scoop!

50—that's all!
NEW FALL
COATS

$24⁷⁵

Get into step with the new movement back to prosperity! Here are coats to make you feel queenly—luxurious—prosperous! Ready for you in this great Penney event!

See them—
Tomorrow
Friday
Saturday!

Better
Act Quickly!

Wise women will "jump at the chance" to wear a coat of fine quality—when the price is so very exceptionally low! All the latest styles are here—colors—fabrics—furs! Don't miss this special opportunity!

Gorgeous furs! Smartest fabrics! Exquisite styling and finish! Wide selection!

J. C. PENNEY CO. Inc.

J.C. PENNEY CO. INC.
DEPARTMENT STORE
Challenging the PRICE RISE!

Ready—
SMART FALL
DRESSES

$6⁹⁰
Satins
Crepes
Sheers
Ribbed and Smooth

Action—is the Word!

This Express Shipment
Just Arrived!

GOES ON SALE
Thursday 9 a.m.

Only 100
—and they won't last long!

COME EARLY! CHOOSE YOURS FIRST!

Penney's fashion buyers have exceeded their best records in this grand scoop. It took rare skill, too, in times like these—and they frankly doubt their ability to repeat! That's the story—and NOW it's up to YOU!

Smart Dark Fall Colors
Wide Shoulders — Unusual Sleeves
High Neck Lines — Graceful Skirts

J. C. PENNEY CO.

"STOLEN LOVE"

by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

COPYRIGHT BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

CHAPTER XXXVI

"Think of getting a girl like Joan these days, mother! Mother, do you realize what that means? Now aren't you glad I didn't fall in with your ideas about Eugenia? She's a peach and all that—but Joan—I can't tell you. She's like some mountain flower that grew up in the clean air away from the soot and dirt of the cities... all the bloom left on..."

"I know, Curtis. But isn't she just a little fortunate in finding you, too?"

He laughed. "Going to stand up for your son, aren't you?" He was always laughing now. Lyla Barstow almost loved Joan for making him so happy... and yet... she had made him happy once, he had been happy before he knew Joan, without any other woman in his life. Now she was just a woman to talk to, someone to talk to about Joan.

"I want the wedding to be soon, but she's such a funny, shy little thing—I don't want to rush her too much. Do you suppose I could get her to consent to May?"

"May!"

"Or April?"

"Curtis—so soon?" Her heart sank.

"Soon? Call that soon? I'd be married now if she'd agree. Why don't you help me out a little? Tell her my engagements are unlucky. Go on—help me out—"

She touched his cheek with her delicate, blue-veined hand... Dear Curtis... how could she let him go?

"I'll help you, dear. But there will be much to do. I must do something for her. And you must speak to her about her aunts, the Misses Van Fleet, Curtis. We must have them here at least once before the wedding—"

So much to do. She'd babied him so. She had taken care of his clothes all his life, bought shirts and socks and ties... would Joan take all that from her too?

She remembered she hadn't sent that brown suit to the cleaner. She loved going into his room, the room he had had ever since he was a little boy, and straightening his things. It made her feel necessary, beloved.

She sang, softly, a little off the key, as she gathered up plus fours, a golf sweater, and the brown suit, to be left in the hall closet for Annie to give to the porter tomorrow.

Automatically her fingers searched the pockets for the memorandums and loose change he never remembered to take out.

A pink letter! She laid it on the bureau with a sniff. Anyone who would use pink paper, and purple ink, was no enigma, she was a large, loosely formed words spelled themselves under her eyes... "Joan Hastings... disgrace... sailor... fifteen..."

The little song died on her lips.

"Curtis!" His mother came into the library with the pink letter in her hand.

He saw it, even before she spoke. Darn it—he'd left the thing where she could find it! Why didn't he destroy it at once, as he should have done? And he stiffened, with unreasonable, shamed anger.

"Curtis, I found this—"

"I didn't intend that you should. It was in a pocket, wasn't it?"

Her delicate color rose, the wrinkled white hands began to flutter... he was hurting her so... pretending to think she had spied on him.

"Whenever Joan is concerned you're not yourself!" she said in her flat, toneless voice, with a hint of tears in it. "You know I came upon it by accident—"

"If that's the case—" He took it out of her hands, and tore it into shreds which he flung into the waste basket. "There's nothing more to be said. That's settled."

She could hear his hard breathing, as if he had been running. He snatched a paper, pretending to read.

"Curtis—"

She tried again. "Curtis—"

He laid down the paper with an elaborate air of patience. "Yes, mother?"

"Curtis, you owe it to Joan to look into this."

"I don't agree with you."

The newspaper came up again, a wall between them.

"Of course, it is absurd," she went on with forced cheerfulness, "but all the more reason for speaking of it to Joan. At least tell her about it, and very likely she will know who sent it, and dispel all our doubts."

"Doubts!" He sprang up angrily, glaring at her with hostile, flashing eyes. The eyes of a stranger, not her son. "I have no doubts! Joan! I'd as soon listen to gossip of you."

She caught her breath sharply. "Yes, but if it were so—wouldn't you want to know it—now?"

He smiled at her pityingly. "Mother—I ask you—stop. If such rot were true I shouldn't be in love with her for the simple reason that it wouldn't be Joan. Now let's forget it. I have no intention of mentioning it to her—and neither have you."

"I'm sorry you choose to misunderstand," she said coldly.

He did not answer.

Mrs. Barstow felt guilty, going back to the Van Fleets again. She dreaded to think of Curtis' anger if he ever found out, but there was little likelihood of that.

Her gloved hand touched the bell firmly.

Heeley, still wrapped in the red checked shawl, peered at her through the crack of the door she handed her a letter. "For the Misses Van Fleet," she said, "and will you tell them I'll wait for the answer?"

Heeley showed her into the drawing room grudgingly.

Evvie Van Fleet read the letter through twice, folded it with stubby, gnarled fingers, and put it in the pocket of her black saten petticoat.

Heeley jerked a thumb in the direction of the drawing room. "She's waiting—in there."

"Do her good to cool her heels," Evvie rumbled, with a sly look at Babe, huddled over the air-tight stove, with her crochet. The more feminine and squamish Babe became with advancing years, the coarser and more manly Evvie. She took a perverse delight in shocking and offending everybody.

"Who?" Babe quavered. "Who's in the parlor?"

Evvie rocked majestically, hands placidly crossed on her militant bosom. "Joan's mother-in-law," she quavered.

"Evvie, please don't be funny. I think you ought to let me see that letter you put in your pocket. I saw you. It was meant for me, too. I know it was!" Her sharp little nose was pink as the shawl she was crocheting. "Is—is she married—Joan?"

"Not yet," Evvie returned amiably, enjoying the sensation she was creating, "but soon."

"Not—not that boy—" Babe faltered.

Evvie's black brows darkened. "Shh—no. Somebody else. Barstow. His mother's here, and I believe I'll see her. Social climber of course. Come and watch me settle her. Heeley! Heeley, we'll have her in the drawing room. Come, Babe, don't primp—it's vulgar at your age."

"It's so cold in there. Couldn't we see her here?"

"We won't be in there long enough to get cold," Evvie said magnificently, making for the drawing room. Babe followed.

Lyla Barstow had thought she was prepared for anything, but certainly not this! A pair of antique scarecrows—patronizing her.

"And what did you say the name was?" the square, mainly one with the bass voice rumbled.

But before she could answer the shriveled one with the frizzed hair said, "Barstow, sister. I remembered, because we had a laundress by that name—Delia Barstow—"

"Probably no relation," Evvie boomed, placidly. "One jump, Mrs. Barstow? Very interesting to meet our niece's prospective mother-in-law. Very interesting indeed. Very nice of you to call, I'm sure."

Mrs. Barstow took the proffered cup, and set it on the small marble-topped table near her chair. "I have something serious to say to you," she said quickly, "something that concerns me as well as you, since your niece is engaged to my son, as I stated in my note. I came to you because—because of an anonymous letter."

Out of the corner of her eye she could see the one with the frizzed hair lean forward, clutch at her heart. But the square, mainly one looked her insolently in the eye.

"An anonymous letter. In my day they were dropped in the fire with tongs. Ladies didn't."

"An anonymous letter from Saulsboro," Mrs. Barstow interrupted, struggling for composure. "I thought you should know of it. There was mention of disgrace Joan had brought to the family, and—"

"I don't feel in the least disgraced," Evvie rumbled, helping herself to bread and butter. But she had paled. Lyla Barstow's quick eye noted that. A little pulse began to beat in her temple. A growing conviction that there was something to know, something this woman didn't want her to know, something sinister about Joan.

"A sailor from Goat Island—"

"No!" Babe cried, getting up and walking back and forth, dragging her long skirt like a train. "That's a lie. There was no sailor. I'm a Christian woman. I wouldn't lie to—"

"To save my own honor," Evvie mumbled. "Quite safe. As safe as the navy. I'll thank you to go and lie down in your room. You are exciting yourself."

"Keep quiet, Evvie! I'm talking. You never let me talk. I was going to tell Mrs. Barstow there was no sailor. I'm a Christian though, I'll tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth—"

Two red spots burned in her withered cheeks. There came the excited, uplifted look she saved for Sundays. She was rocking with emotion. "Let it cost what it may—"

Lyla Barstow leaned forward. She watched, fascinated. It was like seeing a battle between two prehistoric animals, the little pink sniveling one with hands like talons, and the tall, gaunt, like one with the black brows and the great fists like a man's. And she knew she had uncovered something, some festering family secret...

Something that would save Curtis from Joan, something that would give her back her boy.

"I'll tell her it's her right to know, Evvie. It is, it is—" Babe whispered, and her breath whistled in and out of her open wet mouth like the wind through a hollow tree.

"All right, tell her," Evvie's big hands came together. "Smack. As if she were shaking her head. 'Tell her all about it, she probably knows already though, everybody does. It's so old. Tell her he wasn't a sailor though, even if he did die at sea; Tell her Papa just made him ship on a sailing vessel. Go on... what are you waiting for?'

The harsh, manly voice went on, taunting, though Babe had stopped and covered her face with the pink shawl.

"Tell her about the way he threw you over for Veronica," and Veronica and young Peter in the rose garden—that part is good—"

"Evvie," Babe moaned. "Stop. I—I—"

"You wanted to exhibit the family skeletons, didn't you? I'm helping you—so you won't forget anything. Now if you feel able to go on with it—"

Still with the pink shawl over her eyes the little bent old woman crept out of the room. Lyla Barstow heard her crawling up the stairs, whimpering as she went, like an animal who has been hurt.

"Quite an exhibition," Evvie said. She pulled a large white handkerchief out of her petticoat pocket, and blew her nose violently. "Quite worth your while coming over, wasn't it, Mrs. ... er ... Bloomsbury?"

"Barstow."

"Ah, yes. Babe remembered it by the laundress. I was thinking of Bloomsbury, a second girl we had—"

"Miss Van Fleet, I came here as any mother would—"

"You must excuse me if I'm a little unympathetic," Evvie grinned sardonically. "I never was a mother—"

(To Be Continued Tomorrow)

Marian Martin Patterns

Complete, Diagrammed
Marian Martin Sew Chart Included
PATTERN 9522

It is such a joy to present this graceful afternoon frock for the smart matron. She will approve of the unusual treatment given to the contrasting revers and skirt panels will create the slender silhouette she adores. Three quarter length sleeves are always youthful and flattering. Lovely for any of the new fabrics.

9522

Pattern 9522 may be ordered only in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 3 3/4 yards 39 inch fabric, 7/8 yard contrast and 1/4 yard 6 inch lace.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coin preferred) for each MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern ordered.

Study the new mode at its best with the MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK FOR FALL AND WINTER. All the new style highlights—shoulders, collars, sleeves, skirts—are cleverly worked out in the present knowledge of results.

Clothes for juniors and kiddies, reflecting new trends, and Marian Martin's famous slenderizing models are shown. Lingerie and gift patterns, too. This book will guide you to a distinctive wardrobe at little effort and small cost.

SEND FOR IT TODAY. PRICE OF PATTERN BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS, BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to The Herald Pattern Department, 124 W. Main-st. Circleville, O.

Meaning of Isostasy

Isostasy is the theoretical condition of equilibrium which the earth's surface tends to assume under the action of terrestrial gravitation as affected by the transference of materials from regions of denudation to those of deposition and by differences in density in various portions of the earth's mass near the surface.

Talking Parrots

In the case of parrots, an authority states, in "Bird Behavior," that females make just as good talkers as do males. But Parrotine birds to which all other talking and mocking species belong, generally only sing when of the male sex.

Cause of Rickets Sought

For Three Hundred Years

In 1914 Scientists Discovered That This Disease Was Due to Lack of Vitamin D

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

RIKETS is NOT an affliction of modern times. It was first described in 1650 by the eminent English physician, Francis Glisson. At that time a severe epidemic was raging in London. A commission composed of prominent physicians and scientists was formed to study the disease and find a cure for it.

How ever, almost 300 years passed before the actual cause of rickets was found. In 1914 it was discovered that rickets developed when there was a lack of vitamin D in the diet. That vitamin is supplied by the body with a substance necessary for normal growth and the development of strong bones and teeth.

I am glad to say that the disease is not as common as in the days of Glisson. We know how to prevent it. Adequate sunlight and the early administration of cod liver oil will guard the child against rickets.

How to Prevent Rickets

Mothers of young infants are advised to give cod liver oil as early as the fourth week of life. This treatment should be continued through the second year. In addition, the child should be exposed to the beneficial action of the rays of the sun whenever possible.

Though most mothers are familiar with the value of cod liver oil and the danger of rickets, hospital authorities still report the finding of this disease in many infants where there has been neglect of the necessary precautions.

Often a child is found to be restless and irritable. His normal progress in growth and development is slow. It does not gain in weight, has poor appetite, and suffers from constipation, nausea and vomiting. Rickets should be suspected in the little sufferer, and immediate steps taken to cure it.

Answers to Health Queries

A. F. S. Q.—What should a young man aged 24, 5 feet 8 inches tall weigh? 2: What do you advise for loss of hair? 3: What causes a dull ache above the eyes, sometimes I get a headache?

A.—He should weigh about 148 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height, as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few large number above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

2: Brush the hair daily, and use a good tonic. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question. 3: It would be well to have your eyes examined.

(Copyright, 1935, K. F. B., Inc.)

"When do we eat?"

SEND FOR IT TODAY. PRICE OF PATTERN BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS, BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to The Herald Pattern Department, 124 W. Main-st. Circleville, O.

Meaning of Isostasy

Isostasy is the theoretical condition of equilibrium which the earth's surface tends to assume under the action of terrestrial gravitation as affected by the transference of materials from regions of denudation to those of deposition and by differences in density in various portions of the earth's mass near the surface.

Talking Parrots

In the case of parrots, an authority states, in "Bird Behavior," that females make just as good talkers as do males. But Parrotine birds to which all other talking and mocking species belong, generally only sing when of the male sex.

Cause of Rickets Sought

For Three Hundred Years

In 1914 Scientists Discovered That This Disease Was Due to Lack of Vitamin D

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

RIKETS is NOT an affliction of modern times. It was first described in 1650 by the eminent English physician, Francis Glisson. At that time a severe epidemic was raging in London. A commission composed of prominent physicians and scientists was formed to study the disease and find a cure for it.

How ever, almost 300 years passed before the actual cause of rickets was found. In 1914 it was discovered that rickets developed when there was a lack of vitamin D in the diet. That vitamin is supplied by the body with a substance necessary for normal growth and the development of strong bones and teeth.

I am glad to say that the disease is not as common as in the days of Glisson. We know how to prevent it. Adequate sunlight and the early administration of cod liver oil will guard the child against rickets.

How to Prevent Rickets

Mothers of young infants are advised to give cod liver oil as early as the fourth week of life. This treatment should be continued through the second year. In addition, the child should be exposed to the beneficial action of the rays of the sun whenever possible.

Though most mothers are familiar with the value of cod liver oil and the danger of rickets, hospital authorities still report the finding of this disease in many infants where there has been neglect of the necessary precautions.

Often a child is found to be restless and irritable. His normal progress in growth and development is slow. It does not gain in weight, has poor appetite, and suffers from constipation, nausea and vomiting. Rickets should be suspected in the little sufferer, and immediate steps taken to cure it.

Answers to Health Queries

A. F. S. Q.—What should a young man aged 24, 5 feet 8 inches tall weigh? 2: What do you advise for loss of hair? 3: What causes a dull ache above the eyes, sometimes I get a headache?

A.—He should weigh about 148 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height, as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few large number above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

2: Brush the hair daily, and use a good tonic. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question. 3: It would be well to have your eyes examined.

(Copyright, 1935, K. F. B., Inc.)

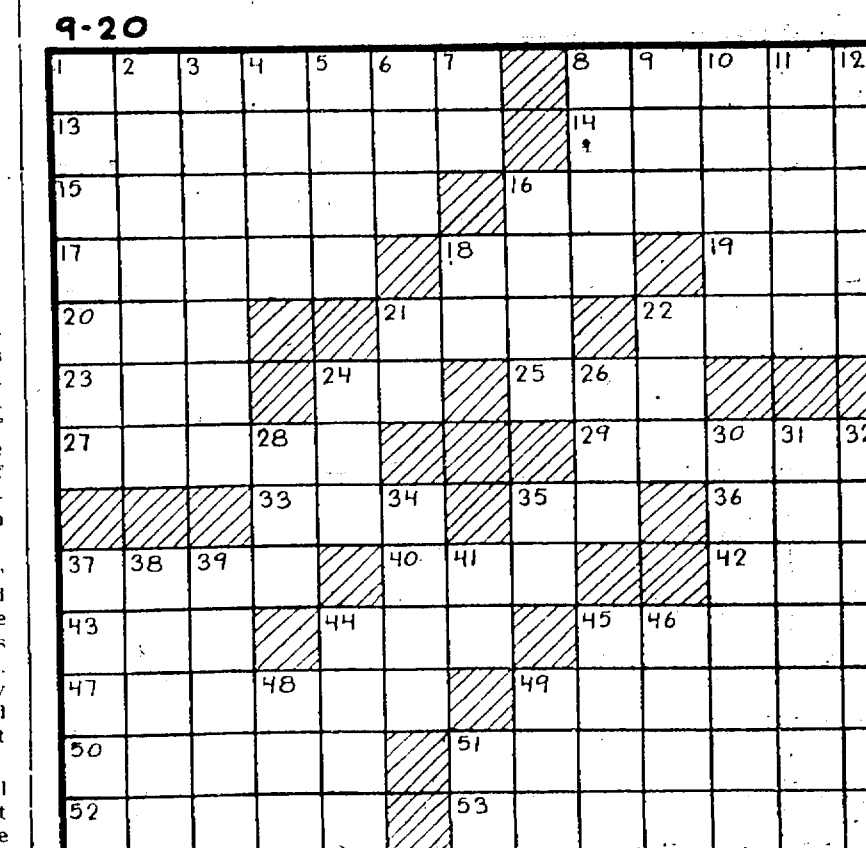

Helen Vinson, George Raft, Clive Brook and Alan Mowbray in a scene from "Midnight Club" coming to the Cliftona Theatre Thursday and Friday.

Today's Cross-Word Puzzle

By EUGENE SHEFFER

9-20

HORIZONTAL

1—shine
2—river ducks
3—small drum
4—collar
15—large Asian country
16—optical illusion
17—plants with only staminate flowers
18—a fold
19—shrubby perennial
20—self
21—climbing herb
22—a micro-organism
23—prefix meaning "not"

24—both
25—Chinese pagoda
27—rimace of contempt
28—plant of the mustard family
33—pallid
35—pavilion
36—lick up
37—uncommon
40—age
42—Malay Negrito savag
43—trouble
44—grassy field

45—shallow vessel with sloping sides
47—rammed down
49—Chinese gambling game
50—aneu
51—arsenate of copper
52—a plant
53—consolidated

ing organs
2—a model of excellence
3—shell-fish
4—long flowing garment
5—Malayan dagger
6—grassy field
7—and (Latin)
8—neat sleep
9—part of the head
10—diminish
11—kind of beer

12—water in the form of vapor
16—animal flesh
18—pronoun
21—jumbled type
22—kind of fish
24—constellation
26—unit
28—a female
30—springy
31—satisfy
32—reached across
34—want
35—exclamation
37—New Zealand trees
38—proverb
39—a style of perpendicular type
41—sun god
44—river in Siberia
45—bond
46—British Indian monetary unit
48—peg
49—away from
51—suffix used to form plurals

Herewith is the solution to yesterday's Puzzle.

9-20

HAYES PERKINS
ABABE LILL DON
RANAL TOP ABA
DLM SAPP LER
ISM PALEA ALL NEEDED DRAB
GRAIN FISCALS
GET LORIS ANA
RAI MOT AT
ASA GAM ABATE
NEW ATA LINE
TRENTON LANES

Copyright, 1935, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

End the Mystery

MANY unexplained angles have developed in connection with the senate investigation of the election of Senator Overton of Louisiana and Huey Long's part in the alleged frauds committed.

Some of these are cited by Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond, chairman of the Women's Committee of Louisiana, in a renewed demand that the investigation be resumed.

Mrs. Hammond addressed her telegram to Senator Connally, head of the senate committee, and were sent the individual members.

"Four more than six months," she said, "you have kept Mr. Holland (the committee's investigator) and several clerks on the payroll at some $700 or $800 a month without authorizing them to take a single step in this investigation. Little money will be left by the middle of October for any effective purpose."

Mention was made also of the fact that Holland had been kept in Washington without allowing him the least authority to prosecute any further investigation in Louisiana. Demand was made that he be returned to Louisiana to collect further evidence in preparation for the scheduled resumption of the hearing the middle of next month.

Whether Overton and Lony be kept in the senate is a matter chiefly concerning Louisianians. The mystery that has marked the senate's investigation of the election, however, has given the case a national-wide interest. The matter reached a point where an investigation of the investigating committee seems to be in order. Reports and rumors that various influences and considerations had entered into the committee's work and are being circulated need to be exposed.

Senator Long has openly boasted that he has gone down to the bottom of the case. We prefer to believe Senator Long's statement, but the attitude of your committee must seem to confirm the truth.

There is no doubt that the committee pursued by the senate committee has brought into serious question the sincerity of the latter. It has caused reflection to be cast upon higher officials in Washington.

Only one way remains for the committee to clean its record. That is to resume the investigation in a thorough and sweeping manner and to carry it to its logical end. The committee's self respect demands this.

There has been too much mystery. Nothing less than a complete lifting of the curtain will restore public confidence in the committee.

A Harvard professor returning from abroad says that Germany under Hitler has regained self-respect. But how about the respect of other nations and peoples, especially the Jews.

Watch Must Be Kept

THE position taken by the United States that any disarmament agreement reached will be useless unless some effective means of investigation is provided should need no supporting argument.

Even if it be conceded that signatory nations would keep their pledged word—although there are serious doubts if all would—the situation still would be unsatisfactory. Suspensions would be aroused and fears multiplied. A dangerous atmosphere would be provided.

The subject was discussed the other day by Norman H. Davis, American ambassador-at-large to the disarmament conference, with Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary. Mr. Davis was reported to have explained the American plan for investigation and urged its support by Great Britain. It would consist of periodic inspections of the armaments of the signatory nations. The inspections would be made every six months. A less precise arrangement was said to be favored by the British, but discussion of details of the two plans were left to the future.

Any plan which did not make

Letters to the Editor Invited

Please write plainly.

Please

SOCIETY

By Helen Crist, Editor, Phone 281.

D. A. R. MEMBERS ENJOY PICNIC AT LOGAN ELM

Threatening weather did not prevent the picnic planned by the Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, from being held at Logan Elm park, south of town, Tuesday evening. A large number of the members of the chapter, together with girl scout troops from Circleville and Pickaway-twp, were in attendance, with the meeting being held in the park's spacious shelter house.

At 4 p. m. Mrs. Harry J. Dunlap, local regent, presided at a business session. Prayer was offered by the chaplain, Mrs. C. C. Watts and the flag salutation followed.

Mrs. Charles Gerhardt, recording secretary, presented reports of the most recent meeting and of the meeting of board of management. A transportation committee for the chapter, composed of Mrs. Harry Heffner, chairman, Mrs. Dwight Steele and Mrs. H. O. Pile, was named.

It was announced that the chapter would assist the Benevolent association during the Pumpkin Show by assuming charge of the booth on Wednesday of that week.

Reports were given by Mrs. R. R. Bales, chairman of the auditing committee, Mrs. W. T. Elm, chairman of the program committee, and Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker, who gave a review of the important events in the local organization's activities during 1932 and 1933.

Meetings of coming interest were read. They include: Central district meeting, Hotel Harding, Marion, Oct. 2 at 10 a. m.; Meeting at Cincinnati, Oct. 11-13; Ohio History Day, Logan Elm, Oct. 1; Attorney General W. Bricker, speaker.

Miss Mary Radcliff, chairman of the program committee for September, presented Mrs. Ward Robinson and Miss Kathleen Dil-saver, who directed the splendid entertainment furnished by Circleville Girl Scout Troop No. 2 and Logan Elm Troop No. 1 of Pickaway-twp, respectively. An Indian pageant was presented, with the natural outdoor amphitheatre near the Logan Elm and cluster of tepees in the background, adding much to the realism of the subject of presentation. The pageant depicted the America of yesterday and was contributed by the Circleville scouts in Indian costume, with Wahnetta Barnhart in the leading role.

Logan Elm troop gave a clever demonstration of its scout work, Miss Rosemary Boggs reading the paper of explanation.

At the conclusion of the interesting program, both troops formed in a circle and sang the scout songs. A bountiful picnic followed.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Orion King, chairman, Miss Helen Yates, Miss Alice Ada May, Mrs. Seymour Millar and Mrs. H. O. Pile.

Mrs. Eleanor Wolfley Bissell of Washington D. C., was an out-of-town guest at the picnic.

The next meeting of the chapter will be held Oct. 17, with the committee, Mrs. William Mack, chairman; Mrs. Noah Warner, Mrs. Lee Shaner, Mrs. Thomas Sweeney, Mrs. Adrian Yater and Mrs. H. M. Crites, entertaining.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN TO MEET THURSDAY

The Presbyterian Women's Social Club will hold its first Autumn meeting in the social room of the church, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Officers for the coming year will be elected and an interesting program has been planned. All women of the church are requested to be present. Miss Hulda Seyfert, president of the group, will preside.

MRS. BARRERE IS LUNCHEON GUEST

Mrs. Elgar Barrere, this city, was among the 20 guests who attended the weekly golf luncheon at the Chillicothe Country Club Monday.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

That in the death of Fannie B. Wilkes, the Monday Club has lost a faithful friend, a member, who identified with the club from its organization, was always prompt and efficient in the performance of duty.

That we extend to her husband our sympathy and appreciation of his loss, and recommend that a copy of this memorial be sent to him, to The Circleville Herald and be spread upon the minutes of the club.

THE MONDAY CLUB.
Mrs. M. Jones,
Miss Grace Moodie,
Miss Sadie Brunner.

"BUY YOUR ICE CREAM FROM A FURNAS DEALER"

furnas
Ice Cream

The Cream of Quality.

THURSDAY - Friday
BARGAIN HOUR THURSDAY

MIDNIGHT CLUB
INTRIGUE MASKED BY CARET

DRON KAT
A gentleman's polite society. A figure of the shadow world. The shadow world for love and love!

Held in Kidnap Plot

Miss Evelyn Eichinger has resumed her studies at Ohio university. She is a junior.

Miss Eichinger and Miss Helen West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry West, W. Main-st., are roommates at the Athens school.

Avery and Henry Eichinger have taken an apartment in the Dunton block, S. Court-st.

Mrs. Mary McMill, Wayne-twp, mother of Ralph McMill and sister of W. S. Gearhart, this city, is seriously ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown, N. Pickaway-st. and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stout, N. Court-st., were dinner guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gray of Wayne-twp.

Thomas D. Harmon of Baltimore, Md., arrived Wednesday for a short visit with his family at the home of Mrs. H. C. Allen, S. Court-st.

Mrs. James Turner of Rochester, N. Y., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Meinhardt Crites, and Mr. Crites and daughter, W. Franklin-st.

The condition of Mrs. H. M. Crites, S. Court-st., who has been ill at her home, is improved.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Turner of Rushville are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Hammel, N. Court-st.

LEGION TO CHOOSE OFFICERS TONIGHT

Howard Hall post, American Legion, has its annual election of officers this evening with a 100 per cent attendance hoped for.

Nominations will be announced at the meeting and the election will immediately follow.

Orin Dresbach, Pickaway-twp, is the present commander.

ASHVILLE COUPLE HONORED SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Eaglin of near Ashville, were entertained on their sixth wedding anniversary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alfordson, Lancaster, Sunday.

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN LADIES' AID TO MEET

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Church of the Brethren will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected. All members are urged to be present. Mrs. Laura Rogers, president, will preside.

PYTHIAN SISTERS TO MEET AT 8 P. M.

The Pythian Sisters will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday, instead of 7:30 as previously announced.

Miss Helen Allen, a trained nurse at General Hospital, Cincinnati, has returned to her work after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Fred Gerrett of Washington-twp.

PERSONALS

Miss Evelyn Eichinger has resumed her studies at Ohio university. She is a junior.

Miss Eichinger and Miss Helen West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry West, W. Main-st., are roommates at the Athens school.

Avery and Henry Eichinger have taken an apartment in the Dunton block, S. Court-st.

Mrs. Mary McMill, Wayne-twp, mother of Ralph McMill and sister of W. S. Gearhart, this city, is seriously ill at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown, N. Pickaway-st. and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stout, N. Court-st., were dinner guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gray of Wayne-twp.

Thomas D. Harmon of Baltimore, Md., arrived Wednesday for a short visit with his family at the home of Mrs. H. C. Allen, S. Court-st.

Mrs. James Turner of Rochester, N. Y., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Meinhardt Crites, and Mr. Crites and daughter, W. Franklin-st.

The condition of Mrs. H. M. Crites, S. Court-st., who has been ill at her home, is improved.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Turner of Rushville are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Hammel, N. Court-st.

LEGION TO CHOOSE OFFICERS TONIGHT

Howard Hall post, American Legion, has its annual election of officers this evening with a 100 per cent attendance hoped for.

Nominations will be announced at the meeting and the election will immediately follow.

Orin Dresbach, Pickaway-twp, is the present commander.

ASHVILLE COUPLE HONORED SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Eaglin of near Ashville, were entertained on their sixth wedding anniversary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alfordson, Lancaster, Sunday.

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN LADIES' AID TO MEET

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Church of the Brethren will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected. All members are urged to be present. Mrs. Laura Rogers, president, will preside.

PYTHIAN SISTERS TO MEET AT 8 P. M.

The Pythian Sisters will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday, instead of 7:30 as previously announced.

Miss Helen Allen, a trained nurse at General Hospital, Cincinnati, has returned to her work after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Fred Gerrett of Washington-twp.

MARKETS

(Furnished by Pickaway-co Farm Bureau)

CREAM 18 cents.
EGGS 18 cents.

LIVESTOCK MARKETS

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts, 55,000, 10 higher. Mediums 180 to 220, 5.00 to 5.25. Cattle 10,000. Calves 2,000. Lambs 8,000.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts, 5,100, active to 5 higher. Mediums 180 to 220, 5.10 to 5.75. Sows 3.00 to 3.75. Calves 8.00. Lambs 7.40.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts, 5,100, active to 5 higher. Mediums 180 to 220, 5.35. Calves 7.00. Lambs 7.50.

CIRCLEVILLE, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts 5.75. Heavies 4.90. Mediums 5.15. Lights 4.50. Pigs 350 government pigs.

BUFFALO, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts 10,100, 15 to 25 higher. Mediums 180 to 220, 5.60.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 20.—Hog receipts, 12,000, 10 to 25 higher. Mediums 160 to 300, 4.90 to 5.35.

CHICAGO GRAINS

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Grain futures opened easier here today. Wheat was 1 3-8 to 1 3-16 off.

GRAND Theatre
Tonight and Thursday
RALPH BELLAMY and FAY WRAY in
'BELOW THE SEA'
Comedy—Universal News
Magic Carpet

corn 3-4 to 1 1-8c down and oats 5-8c lower.
Wheat: Dec. 95 3-4, 96 1-2: May 100 1-2, 101.
Corn: Dec. 54 1-2, 3-4; May 61, 61 1-8.
Oats: Dec. 41 3-4, 42; May 45 1-2, 5-8.

PALM, GRIFFEY FREE
Bertie Palm and George Griffey, arrested early Tuesday for intoxication were each given fines of $10 and costs and 30 days in the county jail by Mayor B. T. Hedges, Tuesday, and all was suspended.

TAR BRINGS FEAR OF HUGE BLAZE

The fire department answered a call to the rear of the Colonial Carriage Co., W. Main-st., at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday where a container of hot tar belonging to the Pickaway-co highway department was on fire.

There was so much smoke emanating from the scene that it was first believed that the old Colonial Carriage building was ablaze.

LABOR WIELDS

(Continued From Page One)

Opposition of economic advisers to price-fixing may lead to a new declaration by the NRA.

President Roosevelt's request to steel companies to cut steel rail costs, to permit inauguration of railroad program with public works fund, carried to steel code meeting in New York by Deputy administrator Simpson.

A Store Filled with New Fall Merchandise

Meeting Every
Need for Fall!

Brand New FASHIONS, STYLES and SIZES for EVERYONE

Fur adds a successful note to

Cloth Coats
$17.50 To
$64.50

Furs are worn higher and just as much fur but it's worn with a difference.

There's something so remarkably wearable about new Fall

HATS
$2.00 $2.95
$3.95

We have all the newest interpretations in Crepes, Felts and Satins. New colors, and large and small head sizes.

NEW FALL
DRESSES

New Wools, New Silks,
New Styles for every use.
Jacket styles, wider shoulders, interesting sleeves, shoulder wings.
Sizes for misses and women.

Yards and yards of new fall silks, rayon prints and light weight woolens. At very low prices.

Bought before the rise in prices.

BLANKETS

Plaids or plain soft fleecy cotton or part wool in single and double bed sizes

59c To $3.95

New Floor Coverings

We bought on the low market a most complete selection of room-size rugs in Velvets, Axminsters and Wiltons, also new patterns in Gold Seal Con-goleum Rugs, and goods by the yard. We now are offering you this merchandise at the same low prices.

88c Sale Ends Saturday, Sept. 23

Come fill your needs for fall and winter, for we are selling many items below wholesale cost.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO BE A SHARPSHOOTER

